LOOKS OFTEN DECEIVE.

An Innocent Looking Girl
Charged With Crime.

PARIS GREEN IS HER GREAT HOBBY.

Numerous Attempts to Poison a Family Are Supplemented by Attempted Arson.

CLINTONVILLE, Wis., Sept. 23.—An innocent-looking, good-looking German girl, scarcely 15 years of age, has been arrested on a warrant charging her with a long series of crimes that have been committed at Louis Devaud's farm, Minnie Hoffman is her name. She has an honest face, and to charge her with
an attempt to commit murder, arson and
malicious mischief seems preposterous.

The persecution began in the latter part of July.

First the choice watermelons of De-vaud's patch were destroyed and the young series of crimes that have been committed at Louis Devaud's farm,
Minnie Hoffman is her name. She has
an honest face, and to charge her with
an attempt to commit murder, arson and
malicious mischief seems preposterous.

A large number of cans of fruit were opened and poison put into them. One day when Mrs. Devaud started to mix her bread she found Paris green in the flour. The next morning when some one got into the house and ruined a quantity of fruit by cutting it with scissors. A few days later the house was set on fire, and while the family was putting it out, the girl was seen in the back yard, and it was noticed that she was carrying a can of fruit.

She was arrested on suspicion of having set the house on fire.

She declares her innocence.

AN OLD MAN.

Delaware county, Iowa, has a vigorous
old man.

MARSHFIELD, Iowa, Sept. 23.—Christian Conrad is celebrating his 110th birthday today. He was born in 1800 in this place and his neighbors are taking a holiday in recognition of his long life.

He served in the war of 1812 and took part in the battle of Waterloo. He lives in a small house on the edge of the town.

He is a very active man and is able to do all the work of the farm.

Magnanimous Chicago.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—Commenting editorially on the final settlement of the situation for the world's fair, the Daily News says: "Outside critics who have claimed that Chicago was withold-ing anything within its power to offer for the success of the World's Columbian Exposition, are disgraced. Besides the splendid site already selected, Chicago sides one of her most jealously guarded parks for the purpose of satisfying the country and the world that the best within her gift is none too good for the exposition."

Convention.

LITTLE FALLS, Minn., Sept. 23.— [Special to The Herald].—When the convention is called to order within the next hour D. T. Calhoun of St. Cloud will be made chairman and Senator Whiteman will be nominated without opposition. There are perhaps half a dozen delegates present who favor Halverson, but seeing their hopeless minority it is exceedingly doubtful if they will ever present his name. There is perfect harmony and the greatest en-

THE WHITE HOUSE.

How it Will Look When Repairs are Completed.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—Mrs. Harrison will doubtless be pleased with the appearance of the Blue room and the East room when the repairs from Cresson from within a few days of her departure for Cape May the White House has been filled with workmen, preparing
it for the winter's season.

The appearance of the blue room, in which Miss Francis Polson became Mrs.
Cleveland, has been entirely changed.
The woodwork, formerly a dingy blue,
has been turned to a very white, and the carpet, which has been a dingy blue,
has been replaced by a new one of a light color. The walls are also being repainted.

The East room has been wired for electric lights under the supervision of Engineer Baird of the navy department.
The room was formerly a very dimly lighted room, and the new lights will make it a very bright room.

Bradford, the worsted manufacturer of England, and enjoying the current credit of having been built up by American money, is greatly cut up in view of the proposed legislation to put the duty on worsted cloths on a par with that on woolen cloths of the same grade. Under the false interpretation of the working of existing duties, the longest and finest wool of a fleece, both in its native state and when woven, comes in at a less rate of duty than the short wool of the same fleece. This palpable error of discrimination in favor of the carded overcombed wool will be wiped out in the new tariff legislation, and American worsted mills set running again. Hence it is that Bradford is down in the mouth. One of the wealthiest manufacturers in the Philadelphia Manufacturer: "My trade is exclusively with America, and the McKinley bill means to me the destruction of my business, and I am too old to seek another market. I shall sell my property and retire. At the same time, looking at it from an American standpoint, I cannot see why there should be any delay in passing a bill that will be so beneficial to your country. I hope it will not pass, and if it was in my power to prevent it I would do so, but I do not think that we have any right to dictate what Americans shall do. Our parliament legislates for the interest of England, and congress should do the same for the interest of your country." The Bradford man has more sense than the American robber chivalry, though he is really under the knife of the tariff.

With the prospect of the early passage of the tariff bill the rub-a-dub in Canada for annexation grows apace, and even some of the ultra conservative journals are shooting off remarks that come very near the mark of treason from the old Tory standpoint. The Quebec Telegraph, once a devoted supporter of Sir John Macdonald, is now advocating annexation, and The Huron Sentinel, another influential journal, published at Goderich, paints the existing situation in black colors. "In Goderich," it says, "there is today not a solitary business which has not been materially injured by the policy of restriction, and we can name several which were choked to death by it. So patent is this fact to every resident of our town, of ordinary intelligence, that if a vote were taken tomorrow to perpetuate the present condition of affairs, or to place annexation to the United States in its stead, the alternative would receive a large majority, if not almost an entirety, of the vote cast." The Huron Sentinel goes on to name a list of business men who have been forced to go over to the United States after trying hard to maintain a foothold in Canada. It is patent that nothing will stay the rising tide of discontent and demoralization, except reciprocity or annexation and without any more on our part, the choice will be offered to us.

What is it in Wisconsin that the Bennett law strikes at? Such things as these which Governor Hazard recites: "I know of an instance in Jefferson county where a young man 25 years of age has lived all his life within sight of a district school, yet he has never attended the school and is unable to make himself understood in English. This is the case in the townships in the state where the town records have been kept in German for years to the utter destruction of all validity or legality. Every act or tax levied is illegal because of such a state of affairs. In one town in the state a vote was taken to loan the public school money to such as wanted to borrow. Instances have come to my knowledge where the English language has been banished from the public schools, and in one instance a public school was stripped of its furniture and closed by clerical order. In certain counties in the state a regularly paid interpreter is needed to secure the testimony in court of men and women who were born in the state. Nearly every judge is constantly meeting instances of this sort. Yet when a law is enacted to prevent such rank injustice to children who are to become American citizens, we are told that we are striking a blow at certain people and the right to worship."

It will be a queer show if Duluth shall stand up in the eye of the country, holding out one hand to manufacturers and clubbing them with the other. Even if the tariff was what President Candidate Hancock once called it, "a local issue," there is no locality in this country more strongly interested in assured protection than the head of the lakes. For American investors will not be in a hurry to take the risk of new industrial foundations if the doors of the home market are thrown open to the world of competitors. Existing establishments in the event of tariff repeal would have all they can do and more to hold their present business from slipping away, and the producers of capital in this would call a halt on any new ventures. If there is anybody who thinks that clubbing new ventures over the head will advance the growth of the head of the lakes, he is, of course, free to nurse his delusion, but for the sake of Duluth, we sincerely hope that few free trade nurses can be brought in line at the polls on election day.

A significant feature of the Maine election was the strong popular endorsement given by the foremost maritime state in the Union to the republican shipping bills. In Maine more than anywhere else in the country are the provisions of these two important measures understood, and the Maine congressmen have been particularly prominent for several years in advocacy of the principles upon which the bills are based. Protection for American shipping has been made a distinct issue in the campaign this year as it never has been made before, and there is now an avowed determination to use practical means to prevent our shipping trade from slipping away from us as it has been doing into the hands of foreigners, backed by postal subsidies, admiralty subsidies, and construction and navigation bounties. The Frye and Farquhar bills should be taken up and passed as soon as possible.

BEN AND HEARD.
"Did you ever know," said a down town barber the other day, "that a razor needs a rest? I've so," he went on. "Sometimes you will get a razor that will work beautifully for a month or so, when suddenly you pick it up and you cannot use it to save your life. No matter how much you strap it and hone it, it won't work, and you are forced to lay it away. But in a week or so you may take it up again and you will find that there never was a better razor in the world. I do not attempt to explain the phenomenon, but it's so. Ask any barber if you do not believe me."

The average newspaper man has often wondered within himself for what purpose the cockroach was created. He is a social being, to be sure, and inquisitive as well. He crawls cheerfully across the paper, critically examines and explores the interior of the inkstand, emerges in a swarm from the pigeon-holes when disturbed, winks his eye at the electric light and otherwise behaves in an exceedingly familiar manner. His real utility has heretofore remained a mystery.

A friend of mine with a family of three—himself, wife and child—has had the usual trouble with the servant problem upon the return of his family from the country recently. In three weeks his wife had tried five servants, three of whom were worthless and were discharged, and two of them left on account of the almost expectation of their mistress that they ought to do some work in consideration of the wages promised them. Yesterday he told me that a literally colossal colored woman had come to secure the place of cook. He thought she would weigh fully 300 pounds, and she carried this avoirdupois with a dignified bearing that was well-nigh overwhelming. She was asked the usual questions, and finally for her "recommendation."

"Adam," she said, swelling herself like a great frog so that she appeared six or seven feet "further around," "I calculate I am my recommendation. If I couldn't have come to see you."

"My friend," she said, "I've lived on the spot, and I think she is wife to prove a first-rate servant."

"The servant question," says my friend, "is the source of creating more trouble with the social relations of ordinarily amiable and socially conscientious ladies than any other source. Women who would scorn to put to any other act of meanness will hire the servants away from their intimate friends with the most utter disregard of the ultimate result of such action upon long-existing friendship. The question of morality never seems to have any bearing upon this particular question. A woman who would not steal a pin, or who even would not willingly risk corruption of the temptation offered by a choice morsel of gossip, will steal your servant and gloat over her diplomacy in accomplishing her crime, for crime it certainly is, though the law may not specifically recognize it."

"Camille," she said, "is today all that it was counted with with her said. She has her art, and the thousand embellishments of her art that have come with the years of devotion that she has given to the part, but the early flame of passion which fired her work and kindled her audience in sympathy burns but faintly now. The lack of fire and glow and warmth was sensibly felt last night. The natural intonation and little mannerisms of speaking, no pleasing if natural, have never been overcome and are the more noticeable now that the spell of the emotion which she used to move, has lost much of its power to shock and divert attention. With all the noble falling off, however, she is the great actress still and her Camille is one of the most finished and vivid impersonations of the stage of today. Aside from some trifling blemishes and flaws of detail to be looked for in the opening night of her season, the play went off with smoothness and spirit. The supporting company is an excellent one. Mr. Colville, having a touch of awkwardness at times, and a spluttering of passion, was an effective and spirited Armand, and the rest of the cast was generally adequate. Miss Morris will play Miss Maudlin, another part with which she has become indelibly united, and her talents and support should again have a popular recognition."

RARE RUSTIC MAID.
[Pittsburgh Dispatch.]
I saw her hastening over the sand dunes looked from her moistening eyes. Her cheeks were flushed with the heat of the sun, and her hair was blown by the wind. She came with feet light and quick and a smile that was like a flower in the sun. And scattered pearls where her feet trod. In dimples, cheeks, and eyes. Panting she flew; the wistful breeze toyed with her streaming hair. And boldly issued her rustic charms. Most beautiful and rare!

"Say, maiden," I softly cried: "Hail thy brief word now; What sorrow haunts thee? Gentle heart And bids thee tears to flow?"

"Has fate to thee been most unkind? Or lover proved untrue? Why dost thou from thy rustic roof Toil me, fair maiden—do?"

"The sweet maid's lips quick answer gave: Lips opening as a bud— Her ecstacy for the lone doctor: Our cow has lost her calf!"

LAST EDITION. JUMP FOR YOUR LIVES.

A Chicago Street Car Goes Into the River.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE OF PASSENGERS.

The Brakes Refused to Work and the Car Ran Away; Both Horses Were Lost.

CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—"Jump for your lives, you're going into the river," the driver of Lincoln avenue car No. 178 of the North Chicago Street Car company threw open the front door of his car at 2:45 this morning with his face as white as snow, shouting these appalling words to the passengers, a dozen in number. The passengers made a wild rush for the doors.

Just as the last man sprang from the step the car and horses went over the brink and plunged into the river. Clark street bridge had been turned to allow the passage of the barge Howard just as the car came into sight on the viaduct north of the bridge. The grade from the viaduct to the bridge is steep. As the car reached the edge of the viaduct the driver applied the brake. It refused to work and the car began to slide toward the edge, gaining velocity at every foot. When within fifty feet of the brink, the driver threw himself bodily against the brake. The chain snapped. The car could not be stopped. Then it was that he threw open the front door and yelled to his passengers. Quick to realize the situation, the conductor joined in the cry and sprang into the car shouting to the passengers to jump, and shaking the sleeping ones.

As the car tumbled on the brink it was seen that still one man remained inside. He had been asleep and awoke as the vehicle rocked on the verge. A cry of horror went up from the people who had gathered around and his escape from death seemed impossible. As the car began to slide into the stream he made a desperate leap and gained the rear platform just in time to jump to the street as the car tumbled over.

The last man out was George P. MacAdoo. He was much excited, but managed to say: "I was asleep in the car when I felt a strange motion and awoke suddenly to find myself sliding toward the end of the car. I can't describe how I ever managed to escape a dreadful death. I just jumped and found myself in a big crowd here. I don't know how I got there."

When the car and the horses were precipitated into the river, the horses were carried to the bottom with the car and came up a moment later disengaged from the car and from each other. One went up stream toward La Salle street, and the other swam east. A tug in passing attempted to rescue the horses, but it took fright at the boat and swam away. After swimming desperately for some time they tired out and went to the bottom. It was rumored during the excitement that two passengers, John Hartough and Dan, a newboy, had been drowned, but so far this has not been verified.

Army and Navy Reunion.
Davenport, Ill., Sept. 24.—The eighth annual re-union of the Southern Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Association opened here today with a large attendance. This is the largest re-union of any association in the United States excepting the army of Tennessee and the National Encampment. Among those who will speak during the three-day re-union are Ex-Governor Porter of Ohio, Ex-Governor Oglesby of Illinois, Gen. John G. Black, and Colonel W. R. Morrison.

Their Annual Reunion.
MOSCOW, Ill., Sept. 24.—The sixth annual re-union of the Military Tract Soldiers and Sailors Association opened today. The feature of the three days' program will be addressed by noted generals, senators and other persons of eminence. The speakers are Gen. Logan, Pension Commissioner Ransom, will deliver addresses and then review the grand parade.

Her Own Business.
Pittsburgh, Sept. 24.—Miss Mary Wainwright was found at the Grand Opera house today rehearsing her company in the "Honey Moon," which is to be put in her repertoire. When asked regarding the truth of the report that she had separated from Mr. James for good, she laughed and said: "Why, that is indeed funny. It is a well known fact that in the repertoire of plays Mr. James had I did not think my part was strong enough for me, and the plays I wished to appear in he thought I was not good enough for me, so we quietly struck out for ourselves. The statement that my former husband was a well known shoe manufacturer of Boston is a booby. My first husband was Mr. Slaughter, a cotton manufacturer, and his two daughters are traveling with me now. I have told you all that I think the public have any right to know, and really more than I have told anybody else."

Want a Five Day Week.
Interpung, Mich., Sept. 24.—[Special to The Herald]—The 4000 miners in Ishpeming have decided to ask the bosses for a five day week for the night shift men and the request will be made this week. The mines are now all making money and the request is not an unreasonable one considering the danger and difficulty of the work.

County Commissioners.
At an adjourned meeting of the county commissioners, held yesterday afternoon, the matter of transferring the insurance from the old to the new jail was referred to the committee on the new jail, with power to act. Five pay rolls of crews laid off were allowed. The committee appointed to arrange a settlement of the James Moore-Nora O'Neill battery case recommended that Moore be paid $1000 as setlement in full, $25 cash and the balance in full $10 installments. Through her attorney, C. O. Baldwin, the claim was accepted, and Moore's bond of $150, with J. J. Cullen and J. J. Noll as sureties, was approved.

We do not like to exhaust you with advice to invest in acres near St. Louis, but "time is the essence of this agreement," and we can't afford to hold our "nose" much longer.
Merritt & Earl, Palladio.

A FLUTTER IN THE 400.

Distinguished Visitors on Their Way From France.

COMTE DE PARIS AND HIS SUITE.

They Will Pay Especial Attention to Southern Battle Fields; Personnel of the Party.

New York, Sept. 24.—Five of the best cabins of the White Star steamer Germanic which sailed today from Liverpool for New York, are occupied by the Comte de Paris, his son Gaston, Duc de Orleans, and their suite. The latter is the Comte d'Haussonville, member of the French academy, nephew of the Duc de Broglie, and late member of the national assembly. He visited the United States at the time of the Yorktown centennial. Col. de Parsoval, late under chief of the staff of the Sixth corps of the French army, who accompanied the Duc d'Orleans during his long visit to India, and spent the four months of his imprisonment at Clairvaux, in the wretched village at the door of the penitentiary, Capt. Morin, for thirty years controller of the household of the Comte de Paris. He accompanied the Duc d'Orleans, in attendance upon the Duc d'Orleans, in 22 years of age, and Premier Duke of France, his paternal uncle, from 1871. His father was an officer in the army and was elected in 1871 a member of the national assembly, by his dual town of Uzes and the Rhodan. This was this young man's mother, by the way, who, as indicated by the development of the past few weeks, furnished out of her immense fortune, the funds upon which the Boulangist campaign was conducted. Marquis de Lasseyre, who is the great grandson of Lafayette, his father's mother having been the daughter of that historical personage. The marquis is now the owner of the historical Chateau de la Grange, which once belonged to Lafayette, and to which thousands of Americans have gone as pilgrims. Dr. Recamier, a young medical man of great ability, who is a descendant of the celebrated beauty, Madame Recamier. He visited the Duc d'Orleans some years ago and last winter accompanied the Comte de Paris to Cuba.

With their weather the party should reach New York on Tuesday or Wednesday next. The arrival of the Comte de Paris with his son and party will create considerable of a stir in the world of the 400. In a recent letter to Gen. Dan Butlerfield the count said that one of the chief objects of his journey was to visit the battle field of Gettysburg and the Virginia battle fields. He said that he was very anxious to give his visit a purely military character, and that he wished to avoid being mixed up with political and personal quarrels. He was coming as a former soldier of the Army of the Potomac to see the battlefields and to see how his old friends were doing. The count is a member of the States in some of the darkest hours of its history, it would be a pleasure for him to witness the present prosperity and happiness.

The distinguished visitor will be given a hearty reception by the survivors of the old Army of the Potomac with which he served as captain and aide de camp for many years. Gen. McClellan, Arrangements have been made for an elaborate banquet at which he will be the guest of honor. He has already accepted the invitation of the Gettysburg commission to visit the historic battle ground, and has spent several days in going over the Virginia battle fields.

THE STATUE UNVEILED.
Imposing Ceremonies in Memory of John B. Finch.

Chicago, Sept. 24.—The monument erected at Ross Hill cemetery to the memory of the late John B. Finch, the famous temperance orator, and who at the time of his sudden death three years ago, was Right Worlthy Grand Templar of the World, was formally unveiled this morning. The statue which is of bronze, and lifelike in execution, surmounts a handsome granite pedestal in the lot in which the remains are interred. A special train of fifteen cars over the Northwestern road carried a large contingent of the participants while others went out in carriages and by a number of other roads. The exercises are under the auspices of the Right Worlthy Grand Lodge, and were presided over by B. F. Carter, of Milwaukee, its secretary. In his opening address he referred to the fact that the monument and statue had been erected by means of contributions from members of the order and that the lot, which is valued at several hundred dollars, had been donated by the Good Templars of Illinois. Addresses were delivered by Hon. S. B. Chace of Pennsylvania, F. R. W. G. T. Dr. R. R. Hutchins, C. T. of Iowa; Dr. Oronothek of Toronto, the famous Indian dignitary of the order, and other prominent Good Templars, and the statue was then unveiled by the widow amidst enthusiastic applause.

The sudden death of John B. Finch, who courted a great fortune in Boston, Oct. 18, 1887, cast a gloom over the temperance movement and all parts of the world. He was a person of great persuasive power and was widely respected in his own country and abroad. His death was a great loss to the cause of temperance. He was a member of the Good Templars of the world, and was a prominent figure in the order. He was a man of great energy and was a great success in his life. ## INTEREST IN THE BIRCHELL TRIAL

Continues Unabated.

THE PRISONER REMAINS UNMOVED.

Expert Testimony Introduced to Show That Benwell Could Not Have Suicided.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., Sept. 24.—The Birchell trial was continued this morning, the court opened at 10 o'clock sharp. The prisoner had slept well and was up in time to perform his usual careful toilet before being called to face the judge and jury for the day. He was ready and waiting for the deputy sheriff when the latter arrived in a hack. It has been reported that Birchell is handcuffed on the way to and from the court room but such is not the case.

He is the quietest and most easy-going man in the courtroom. He is not at all nervous, and he never complains or gives trouble in any way. There was the usual great crowd at the town hall entrance to see him pass, and his appearance was warmly welcomed by many. Birchell has raised on work done have been allowed, the contractors claim that on account of the slowness with which the estimates for the completion of outstanding contracts, the meeting is imperative. The recent strike also made it impossible for them to finish the work in time to avoid the penalty imposed by the council. Everything will probably be satisfactorily arranged at the meeting today.

The Firm Assails.
St. Paul, Sept. 24.—A meeting of the creditors of Forester Bros. is now in progress. The main issue assigned to the Bank of Minnesota which is a creditor. The creditors are now discussing the assets of the firm, and the firm's liabilities will be about $200,000. The assets are estimated at $225,000. ## RIVERS STILL RISING.

A Large Number of Lives Lost and Numerous Damage to Property by the Floods in France.

PARIS, Sept. 24.—Further reports of damage by floods are being received. The town of Annony, department of Ardeche, and the surrounding country have been inundated by the overflow from the Canoe and Durance rivers and the damage is enormous.

The factories have been destroyed, bridges swept away and the railways damaged to such an extent as to render them impassable. The floods have been accompanied by some loss of life. In Annony, a manufacturer and several workmen have been killed. The water is still rising.

THE STOCK YARDS WAR.
Switchmen Fight Refuse to Work for Burlington Engineers.
CHICAGO, Sept. 24.—The late arrival of Grand Masters Sweeney and Sargent, in tending to precipitate a general strike among the stock yards among the switching association employees. The six switchmen were discharged this morning, making twelve in all who have been discharged for refusing to work with Chicago, Burlington & Quincy non-union men.

Two Burlington engines were sent into the yards this morning and after six switchmen had been discharged for refusing to switch them to their destinations, the engines were side tracked. It became definitely known that all of the men in the yards would refuse to work with the Burlington men.

It is believed that the presence of Sweeney and Sargent is the only thing that can prevent a strike.

WHITEMAN NOMINATED.

The democratic congressional convention of this district, held at Little Falls yesterday, nominated Hon. Alonzo J. Whitman of this city for congress.

That the nomination is a strong one, there can be no doubt; but there is little doubt that Whitman will be defeated. This district gave 8000 republican majority for Comstock in 1888, and there is no reason why this majority should be materially reduced this fall.

This county gave Mr. Comstock a majority of 3500 which the democrats hope to cut down largely on campaign issues and Whitman's personal popularity.

He is a worker and an organizer, and will obtain some votes. It is thought, by reason of his being a Duluth man, and the plea that this city needs a home congressman.

Personally the editor of The Herald has a friendly feeling toward Mr. Whitman, but he is a democrat and Mr. Comstock is republican and The Herald is a republican newspaper.

Mr. Comstock has served his constituency faithfully and well, and there is no reason to doubt his re-election by a good majority. He is in sympathy with his party. He is not in favor of a tariff for revenue only, and if the republicans have a majority in the next congress, Mr. Comstock can do more for this city than Senator Whitman can. He is on record in favor of the McKinley bill, and will vote for its passage. He believes in the protection of home industries, and The Herald will do all it can to secure his election.

It will be secured, but even with the big majority behind him it will not be easy to go to sleep in this campaign. Mr. Whitman is one of the most popular and successful business men in this city, and the democratic convention could not have nominated a stronger candidate to make a hopeless fight.

The democratic candidate, Halvorsen, expect that the alliance candidate, Halvorsen, will draw largely from Mr. Comstock in the western portion of the district. We believe that this is a false hope, and that those disgruntled republicans who now talk of voting for Halvorsen or Whitman will come into line before the fourth day of November and re-elect Mr. Comstock by a good majority.

FOR NO SINGLE INTEREST.

The Herald has no particular interest in any political slate making and no concern in grinding axes for any candidate, but it is straight set for the public interest of this city and county. Let the republicans of St. Louis County bury personal and local jealousies and dimensions and resolve to put up a ticket and run a campaign that will be a credit to the Republican party. Make the public interest and the enduring interest of the party the touchstones for all candidates. Put up no man who will not stand squarely for these interests, and who is not known to stand squarely for them. Drop the idea of hunting places for friends or pressing nominations in any particular township. What this city wants and what this county wants is men who can be relied upon to do justice to all, to stand faithfully by all established interests and to promote loyally every entering interest for the good of the city and county.

We call upon the republicans of this county to see to it that such men are nominated at the primaries. In the choice of men it is nonsense to disregard the considerations of practical politics. Don't put up complete unknowns or unpopular men, however good their personal character may be, to hazard the party's rightful chances or be knocked down in the heat of a campaign. Put up men to win and men who will be enabled to win and will work to win it can win. We want no campaign of pushing stones up hill. We want men who will be a help to the party and not a drag upon it. There are such men in the party who will take nominations, if touched them, and be prime movers in the campaign, as they should be. We want to see no chance thrown away, and if such men are nominated and selfish and prejudiced and mean considerations are put this fall beneath the good of the party and the public, they will surely win. And their winning will not mean the triumph of any party or locality or of any private or corporate interest, but the triumph of honorable party interest and of common public interest.

The conference committee on the tariff has under consideration a very important measure relating to Canada. It is a combination of propositions which at different times have been submitted to the two houses of congress, with some important new features. It consists of the Butterworth bill to provide for the adjustment of all differences between the United States and Canada, and to provide for full reciprocity between the two countries with the following additional sections: That the industries of the two countries may not be unnecessarily disturbed by any sudden change in the fiscal policy of either country, nor the revenue of either country suffer by a too rapid or radical change in the laws governing the operations of this bill. It is hereby enacted that the President of the United States shall appoint Commissioners who, in connection with like commissioners appointed by the government of the Dominion of Canada, shall mutually agree upon a given number of articles embracing all or any part of the principal articles now purchased by each country from the other being the growth and product of the respective countries, and which are now dutiable by the country purchasing the same. When the articles thus mutually agreed upon by said commissioners, being the product of the United States, shall be admitted into all the ports of the Dominion of Canada free of duty, then the President of the United States, shall, by proclamation, admit all of the articles thus mutually agreed upon, being the product of the Dominion of Canada, into all the ports of the United States free of duty. It is reported that Secretary Blaine and Senator Aldrich, the author of the amendment providing for reciprocity with the South American states, endorse this measure, and there is now a considerable probability of its adoption.

What The Herald would like to see:

A viaduct over the tracks at Lake avenue, a commodious and clean railway station at the crossing, and the drunken hoodlums who infest the present station and the late night trains, run into the "cooler." Lake avenue is today the most crowded with passing teams and people of any avenue in the city. A bridge across the tracks is one of the most urgently needed public improvements. The present railway station is a poor shanty at best, and far behind the present public demand for accommodation. The drunkards who use it and the smoking cars on the night trains as hog styes, should be sobered by the big gun does that the law protecting the public can give. For all or any of these improvements, The Herald will be very thankful and so will the public at large.

BEEN AND HEARD.

A gentleman who has just returned from a visit to central New York tells me that the hop farmers are excited over the sharp advance in the price of hops. The large hop yards in Madison, Oneida, Chenango and Oneida counties are yielding bountifully, and the rate paid on the ground is forty-five cents per pound, an advance of fifteen cents during the past week. There has been considerable speculation in the crop, and many a venturesome grower has bought futures and options from his neighbors at a handsome profit. Some of the big growers are holding on for a further rise, and expect the price of hops to go up to $1 per pound before Christmas. They say that the hop crop of Germany is almost a failure and that of England is very light. It is said that no hope of this season's crop will be imported for a year to come, and that there may be a demand for the United States product for export to Europe. "Everything seems to come to the farmer who waits," said my friend.

A railroad that runs not a thousand miles from Duluth has recently been infested with card sharps, and well known to the city, is one of the victims of these sharks. The other day our very good friend, the knight on four men playing poker. "Tickets!" called the conductor. Three of the men responded, but the fourth looked out of the window with a sorrowful look on his face. "Come my friends," said the man who had failed to "dash," his coupon stashed, then pattingly remarked the man opposite. "I've got a straight flush," and he raked in the pot. The conductor drew the man from the train, and when he returned he was followed by a crowd of men who were sharper than he had touched him for $50, he had not laid down on the table. This is the reason why he is so taciturn and hostile to all.

Don't kick yourself in a month or so and say: "Why didn't you tell me about these tickets?"

Don't be wise and see us at once. Good things there.

Amusements Notes.

Aside from the noticeable unfamiliarity of the actors—excepting Miss Morris—with their parts, "Miss Mutton" was presented last night in a manner worthy of only of highest praise. Miss Morris' personal appearance is more consistent with the role of Miss Mutton than that of Camille. At times she reached something akin to artistic sublimity, and all the shades of feeling that her role required were carried out with her usual fidelity to details. The support was hardly up to the standard, owing to the fact that not a member was up in the lines, and in this one respect the performance was unsatisfactory.

Ezra Kendall, the comedian, passed through town last night.

Barry &amp; Fay's rollicking act, "McKenna's Flirtation," follows Clara Morris at the Temple. The company brings a host of pretty girls and a lot of specialty people, who are "out o' sight," so Advance Agent Malley says. Barry &amp; Fay are well known in Duluth, and where ever these two inimitable comedians have been seen, "McKenna's Flirtation" has wonderful drawing powers. This company will pack the house Friday and Saturday evening. The advance sale goes on tomorrow.

TOUSLEY TALKS.

Minnesota's Other National Commissioner
Has Some World's Fair Honors

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Sept. 25.—(Special to The Herald).—"Chicago has undertaken a vast thing in the World's fair,"
said Professor O. V. Tousley, the Minn-apolis member of the commission, who has just returned from helping to select the site, "but I am sure it will prove a wonderful success."

"The Lake Front has been decided upon to be used in conjunction with Jackson and Washington parks, which are connected by a beautiful promenade
a mile long. This will be illuminated the entire length with a magnificent electrical display."

"It is a little hard for the city to have to pay all the expenses. I think the government ought to pay the expenses of the exhibit. Chicago will have to raise $10,000,000, of which $5,000,000 is in sight. The city will vote in November on issuing city bonds for the remainder."
The vote will be on the 20th inst.

The various portions of the city have been harmonized by the election of Col.
Davis of the west side, as director general.

The Minnesota legislature will be called upon to appropriate funds for the fair, California will spend half a million in mammoth exhibit. Work will begin once upon it in Chicago. Professor Tousley is chairman of the committee on science, literature, history and education and also minutes agent of the committee on fine arts along with Chauncey Depew. It is possible he may become historian of the fair.

AN ORGANIZATION THAT WILL ACCOMPLISH
each

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—The principal hotels are crowded with delegates to the twentieth annual congress of the International Prison association, the first session of which will be held at the Hotel Sherman on the 27th inst.

The association was organized at Cincinnati in 1870, its first president being Horatio Seymour. Its aim is to secure the amendment of the criminal code, the proper administration of prisons and reformatory discipline, the introduction into them of reformatory discipline and the prevention and repression of crime by all practicable methods, especially by the reformation of the prisoner.

It is also a body of all political and social reformers, and its membership includes most of the leading prison officials of the United States and Canada and a large number of students of criminal law
who have no direct connection with penitentiaries, together with a number of eminent citizens of this country and Canada. The congress will be in session one week.

The "LOYAL MEN."
Political-Religious Organization in the City of Duluth.
Boston, Sept. 25.—Within a month past will be taken in the direction of extending to a dozen or more of the principal cities of the country the new organization recently brought into existence here, and which has adopted the title of "The Loyal Men of American Liberty." The object of this society, as stated in its charter, is the elevation, the lightening and conversion of Roman Catholics, by supplying them with the national weapon, the shillalah, and as shall be helpful in imparting to them
a true knowledge of the Creator.

It also proposes to take a hand in politics by opposing the election of men who hold allegiance to any foreign power, and to secure the election of men who are true to the principles of American Liberty. Another object of the organization is to advocate an open house to the public schools and to assist financially or otherwise all excommunicated Catholics.

The society was born in the "Loyal Men" have a large following in this city,
the names of many prominent citizens
being upon the roll of membership.

A WHOLESALE JOB.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Sept. 25.—The King of Bacteria.

New York, Sept. 25.—Juanes Celman,
ex-president of the Argentine Republic,
will be impeached on the charge of embezzlement of public moneys while in office. As a result of the examination of the accounts of his administration, it is placed at $42,000,000. Where this large sum has been placed is a mystery, although the board of inquiry has been figuring speaking, placed upon the rack, nothing of a satisfactory nature has been developed.

It is thought that a goodly portion of the money was used in the purchase of the United States. In the meantime the president is under lock and key, and according to the public ledger is likely to remain there until he expresses a willingness to disgorge at least a fair proportion of the sum total of his embezzlement.

A Gigantic Packing House Deal.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Final arrangements for the sale of the Anglo-American Packing company, which has been pending for some time, have now been concluded. The Fowler Bros. company has been incorporated in England with a capital of $4,000,000, and will in the future carry on all the business of the packing house of Fowler Bros. in this country and Europe. These include the Anglo-American Packing company of Chicago, Fowler Bros. and the Anglo-American Packing company of New York.
Fowler Bros. of Liverpool, the Anglo-American Refrigerator Car company and a part interest in the Omaha Packing company of Omaha.

"A Little in a Name."

New York, Sept. 25.—In response to the equities of several influential Turkish residents, a cable dispatch has been received stating that Osman Pasha, who lost his life last week by the foundering of a Turkish man-of-war, was not the hero of Plevna. The envoy was the son-in-law of the imperial Turkish army. Hassan Pasha.

The great and only Osman Pasha has, since the Russo-Turkish war, been commander of the body-guard of the imperial military, and is known as Victor Osman Pasha, the first name being in Turkey a distinguishing title.

Big Fine Deal.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 25.—The largest single transfer of Pennsylvania timber lands was consummated in Ohio today, it being the purchase of 18,000 acres of land in Elk county by S. S. Bullis of Ohio, who paid $200,000 for the tract.
The land was owned jointly by Messrs. J.
R. Hall of Ridgeway, and Andrew Kaul of St. Marys, and Sampson Short of NorthEast, Penn. It is unquestionably the largest and most valuable block in the Pennsylvania timber belt.

SENATORS BLOCK IT

Northern Senators Not Willing to Give Up.

BUT STILL DEMAND FREE SERVICE.

But For Them the Bill Would Be Reported; Mr. Kennedy Expunged; Live Washington Topics.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—There is still the war in conference over the tariff bill but everyone wants to use argument to the full before adopting stringent measures of compulsion. The attitude of the Northwestern senators on binder twine is said to be the one obstacle now remaining to final agreement. If they could give up their demand for the rejection of this article on free list, it is said the house conference would at once accept the senate's sugar schedule, and thus settle the whole matter.

The binder twine senator are being lured with but there is no indication that their position has been changed. It is said that the senate finance committee,
where the conferees are held, that a final meeting of the conferees would probably not occur before tomorrow morning.

Kennedy Expunged.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—The resolution
expunging the entire Kennedy speech from the permanent record having been reported, Mr. Kennedy made an eloquent speech in his own defense, making, however, no apology for his previous resolutions. The resolution was then adopted; yeas, 151, nays, 33.

Swapping Mammals.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Mr. P. H. Lannan, editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, the anti-Mormon organ, and Columbian editor, are planning to swap mammals in the interview here today. "In a few years with the increase of population and a rigid enforcement of conservation laws we will be able to completely throat the Mormon monster. It is a great match and the newspapers are making congressmen to advocate statehood for Utah, or to advocate its annexation to the United States, and the Mormons are preparing to swap mammals with the Mormon question."

Railway Building in the South.

New York, Sept. 25.—This week's Engineering News will publish a map and statistics showing the progress and prospects of railway construction in Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana, Texas and Indian Territory. The statistics show 524 miles of track laid since 1880, and under construction, 206 miles under survey 5031 miles proposed with fair prospects of construction. These figures show a considerable increase. One of the most noticeable features is the large amount of work done independent of large companies.

Pushing the Birchell Trial.

WOODSTOCK, N. Y., Sept. 25.—With a desire to push the Birchell trial the court met this morning at 9:30. A crowd gathered to see the prisoner on his arrival but in spite of the hundreds of eyes
he does not flinch. He was in the dock this morning about twenty minutes before the judge entered. There was a greater attendance of ladies than on the previous day.

No Wonder Washington Grows.

ASHLAND, Wis., Sept. 25.—(Special to The Herald).—A report of the Washington gives 31,000 people instead of 1900. Two Washington women horse women in the street yesterday for making remarks about them. Then they cornered another man and held him off the hands of the police. The woman came up, armed with a rifle.
The husband was disarmed, arrested and fined.

The Once Famous Actor.

New York, Sept. 25.—George S.
Knight, the once famous character
actor, is still a resident of Burnham apartment house, where he is being carefully nursed and attended. There is, however, no perceptible change in his condition and it is not probable that he will ever again appear upon the stage.
Between the funds supplied by his wife, Mrs. Sophie Knight, who is still pursuing her professional career and the monies in the hands of the special committee secured
from the benefit of some time ago, Mr.
Knight is not likely to want for either
the comforts or the luxuries of life.

Removing Nationalities.

LEXINGTON, Mo., Sept. 25.—A call has been issued requesting the survivors of the battle of Lexington, both federal and confederate, to forward their names and addresses to John McNulta, Bloomington, Ill.; J. R. Connell, Lexington, Mo.; or G. S. Grover, 320 Olive street, St. Louis. A movement is to be put on foot for erecting a monument to the fallen dead of both armies.

More Wisconsin Pearlfishers.

SHUCCOCK, Wis., Sept. 25.—Great excitement exists here over the discovery of pearls in the Wolf river. Large numbers are being taken out daily; some very fine specimens are found that sell readily at $10 each. They vary in size from No.
10 to about the size of a garden pea.
Nearly all other business is suspended and the river is lined with boats and pearl hunters.

Hay View Heights.

Lots for sale from $100 to $400. Terms, one-fourth cash, and the balance in eighteen monthly payments.
Commercial growth is all towards West Duluth, and cannot fail to make property
on the hill advance rapidly.

Harry & Fay.

The advent of Harry & Fay at the Temple on Friday and Saturday will cause a smile of anticipation to rest on the faces of greater part of the city.
This jolly pair of comedians are popular as exponents of Irish character, and have no equal. "McKenzie's Flirtation," in which the clever comedians are to be seen here, is said to be the best play that they have presented. The fun is hot and hearty, and is utterly devoid of the knock-down and drag-out business of the stage. The management will be supported by their original
New York company which includes a number of pretty girls, and a quartet of trained voices. Yours
Sincerely,
MAY BERRY RYAN.

THE MUNDY DEATH.

Preliminary Examinations Today in Superior Court of J. Dwyer's Defense to be on Tomorrow.

W. H. Dwyer was arrested yesterday afternoon on the charge of murder.
Sheriff Sharkey guaranteed that the prisoner would be on hand this morning at ten o'clock for the preliminary examination, and Mr. Dwyer was not put on bail. This morning when the examination began before Judge Steele at West Superior the court room was packed with curious spectators. County Attorney Champ Green, assisted by local attorneys, appeared for the state and Maria D. O'Brien of St.
Paul for the defendant.

The testimony introduced by the prosecution was materially the same as the accounts published in the newspapers. A number of eye witnesses testified as to the death of Mundy, but there was considerable conflicting evidence as to how Mundy fell. Dr. Wylie and Connor were called to the stand. Dr. Connor testified that the deceased never thoroughly regained consciousness after the injury. An effort is being made to show by Dr. Connor that the events leading up to the tragedy were such as to make Mundy experience a feeling of hostility towards ex-Chief Doran; that they became involved in a quarrel, during which Dwyer interfered and struck Mundy. At 3:30 o'clock Dr. Connor was still on the stand.

It is not thought that the defense
will be taken up before tomorrow morning, when Dr. Dwyer, of St. Paul,
will be called to the stand as an expert,
and Dr. Alden, will be called to show that the death could not have resulted from a blow with the hand.

FIGHTING FOR A STATE.

The Democrats Making a Desperate Effort to Capture Wisconsin.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 25.—John O.
Sponner is running neck-and-neck with the educational issue in Wisconsin. The fact is that the popularity of the "little giant" is a wonderful aid to the entire republican ticket. Senator Sponner will do great work on the stump. He is an orator, and he has a wonderful knack of convincing his hearers that the statement he utters is gospel truth. Chairman Payne, of the state central committee, and the members of the executive committee in direct charge of the work in the field, will not admit that there is any division of the fight as between Sponner and the state ticket.
This charge has been made by the democrats, and Col. Vilas, the democratic candidate for senator, is using it in his speeches.

Senator Sponner has a strong opponent. Col. Vilas is an aggressive man and he is out for a senatorial seat. He has an idea that the time has come for him to make the "effort of his life" for the top, that he is so anxious to wear, and the theory in Milwaukee today is that the ex-postmaster general and ex-secretary of the interior has plenty of money to back up his ambition. This belief is shared alike by republicans and democrats. The idea of some of the republican leaders is that Col. Vilas made a great deal of money during his stay in Washington. He is a member of the John G. Knight Lumber company, with headquarters at Ashland. The fact is that Knight and Vilas are the principal members in this big lumber company. The story goes that Mr. Vilas favored this company a great deal while secretary of the interior. The company received a number of big Indian contracts. There was a little flurry about it some time ago, but the real facts in the case never came out, so it is argued.

The plan of the republican managers is clearly to appeal to the patriotism of the voters. The "Little School House" banners are to be circulated just as freely as the country's flag. The fact is, about 50,000 of these banners and the same number of flags are to be wafted in the breeze in every section of the state until election day. Chairman Payne and Secretary Ewing of the state central committee have designed a pretty campaign button, with the "Little School House" and the American flag on it.
They propose to have 100,000 of these in circulation. The democrats are doing fun at the "Little School House" idea of the republicans, but the scheme seems to attract a great deal of favorable attention—too much so to suit the opposition.

America's Biggest College.

BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Harvard college opens today with a freshman class numbering 400. The largest in its history.
The building of new students entering the advanced classes this term is particularly noticeable.

New York, Sept. 25.—The freshmen class that will enter Yale today will be the largest ever known. The academy freshman class will number 400. The freshman class will number 400. The freshman class will number 400.

They Need Water-Tooled.

RATON CITY, N. D., Sept. 25.—A large oil well is located west of Newcastle and is now yielding from five to six barrels of oil daily. The well is being drilled by Boring for oil is progressing on all sides.
Kilpatrick Bros. & Collins, who own a gas well, are prospecting for a heavier flow, the present depth of the well being about 100 feet.

TELEGRAPH BRIEFS.

The Bank of London has advanced the rate of discount from 4 to 5 per cent.

Fire started in lumber piles on Edley Bros. & Co's wharf, Bay City, Mich.,
yesterday afternoon and a city wind
from the north carried the flames from one dock to another and in less than two hours 150 piles, comprising 3,000,000 feet, had been destroyed, entailing a loss of $20,000. At 7 o'clock the wind changed and the fire was gotten under control.

DULUTH'S INCLINE ROAD

Engineer Diescher Takes a Trip Over the Line.

THE GRADE IS AN EASY ONE.

The Cars Will Have a Hoisting Power of Twenty Tons and will Be Perfectly Safe.

Samuel Diescher of Pittsburgh, the engineer of the Seventh avenue incline, arrived in the city yesterday and today
he went over the line of the proposed road. He is well pleased with the progress made so far, and says that when the masonry is finished a good start will have been made. The Keystone Bridge company, to whom the contract has been let for the iron work, will push this part of the work as rapidly as possible. The steel is being furnished by Carnegie, and there will be no trouble about securing the material.

"This is an unusually long incline,"
said Mr. Diescher, "but it is a comparatively easy one. We are becoming used to inclines down our way, and the people feel safe on any grade. In Pittsburgh we have inclines on 72 per cent
grade and now we are building one at Johannston, for the Cambria Iron company which has a grade of 71½ per cent, and is 525 feet high. The Maximum grade on the Seventh avenue incline is 25 per cent, less than one-third of the other. Still every precaution is necessary and will be taken for the safety of the patrons. There will be two ropes on each car to insure safety, so that if one rope breaks the other will hold the car. The ropes are to be strained to less than one-tenth their rated capacity."

"The cars will be 16 by 40 feet on the floor, and each will have a hoisting capacity of twenty tons. They will be roofed, and will be provided with canvas for the comfort of passengers. The trip from Superior street to the station between Eighth and Ninth streets will be made in five minutes."

"It will require six men to operate
these two cars, one on each car, one to attend the levers at the power house,
two at the gates and one to attend the engine and boilers. The work on the foundation at the power house is progressing rapidly and a splendid piece of masonry is being done. The road will certainly prove a great benefit to people on the hill and there is no doubt that it will be liberally patronized from the first."

"The growth of Duluth is something

possible tie-up.

Chicago, Sept. 25.—Trouble is brewing between the West Side Street Car company and its conductors and drivers.
The main body of the employees claim that the company is fostering a opposition union in an effort to break down
the regular union, and seeking to force the political action of the men in the coming election in November. The company, on the other hand, denies these allegations and says that the men are unruly and seem to be seeking to make trouble.

A stormy conference between the employees was held yesterday, and a general meeting of the conductors and drivers has been called for Saturday night. The men threaten to tie up all the West Side lines.

PERSONAL.

Miss Ruth Noble of Rice Lake, Wis., who has been studying here for some time, has gone to Ann Arbor, where she will enter the University of Michigan. Her sisters, Misses Charlotte and Jennie Noble, are attending the Hasty school here.

Mrs. J. H. Weston begins her classes in practical designing on Saturday next. These classes were inaugurated last year, and were very successful—as they deserved to be. Mrs. Weston has done, and is still doing, much of the high class art designing for memorial windows and other costly work for that leading American house, Tiffany of New York.

Collector Johnson, his son Fred and Arthur Erickson will return in a day or two from an outing at Isle Royale, where they go every year.

Miss Kate West, who has been visiting her friends Misses Fannie Upham and Nina Burke, has returned to her home at Pittsburgh.

The family of Judge James Spencer, attorney of the Great Northern road, has arrived to take up their home in Duluth.

Henry John, attorney of St. Paul, who is remembered by the early-time Duluthians as son of the proprietor of the old Lincoln house, was recently presented with a fine case by citizens of Wheaton, Traverse county, for his success in a county seat case there.

George E. Stone, the St. Paul capitalist and president of the Lakeside Land company, is in the city.

Miss Kessler of the California Wine House, is up from St. Paul.

THE WORLD OF COMMERCE

Wheat Market Opens Up a Trifle Nervous.

TRADERS APPEAR VERY CAREFUL.

Large Dealing in No. 1 Northern is the Feature of the Day; December Active.

Wheat took a lively turn today, fluctuating a little nervously with cash of the better grades in good demand. They were taken early at  $\frac{1}{4}$  to  $\frac{1}{2}$  above yesterday's close on the futures, but fluctuations brought on a dull closing.

Cash No. 1 hard declined  $\frac{1}{4}$ , going slowly at 95 $\frac{1}{2}$ . No. 1 northern opened late at  $\frac{1}{2}$  discount, 93 $\frac{1}{2}$ , a large amount selling, and closed  $\frac{1}{4}$  higher, very firm. No. 2 northern sold uniformly at 92. September No. 1 hard started at 101, declining later to 99 $\frac{1}{2}$ . October 1 hard opened unchanged closing at 99 $\frac{1}{2}$ . December ruled below yesterday, finishing at 100 $\frac{1}{2}$ . May No. 1 hard closed nominally at 107, with lower grades neglected.

FROM OVER THE WATER

Britain's Railways and Their Few Accidents.

TO REACH THE POLE BY BALLOON.

Parliamentary Blue Book; Salisbury Won't Have Germany's Decoration; The Usual Scandal.

London, Sept. 25.—The frequency of railroad disasters in the United States has furnished a topic for prolix discussion. In this country, where the railroads are under the strict supervision of the board of trade and every accident that involves the death of a passenger is made the subject of a special government investigation, the numerous fatalities which occur across the Atlantic are regarded as beyond comprehension.

In Great Britain last year only eighty-eight passengers were killed in accidents on railroads, and of this total the Armagh disaster contributed no fewer than eighty. The proposition, therefore, to send a party of persons across the Atlantic during the year was but one in 10,000,000, while of persons injured the percentage was one in 500,000. There is a general opinion among railroad men in this country that the same governmental supervision, which obtains in this country, and the officials held to a strict legal accountability, the continuous flow of disasters would very speedily be reduced to a minimum.

Advices from Paris say that Monsieur George Besancon, director of the Superior School of Aerial Navigation and Meteorology, is really in earnest in their intention to make an endeavor to reach the north pole in a balloon. Several French papers, leading scientists in Paris, are said to have subscribed to the use of two intrepid voyagers, and the trip will be undertaken early in the coming year. The point of departure will be Spitzbergen. The balloon will have a cubic capacity of 11,121 metres, and is to be filled with pure hydrogen. It will be more than ten times larger than the largest balloon ever made.

It is just given out that the Emperor of Germany offered to decorate Lord Salisbury with the order of a Knight of the Black Eagle, but that the honor was respectfully declined, owing to the fact that the premier had private advice to the effect that had he accepted the Prussian order the Emperor would have expected the Queen to send the order of the Garter to Germany.

The parliamentary blue book just issued shows that during the year ending July 31, 192,000 people were committed to police courts of drunkenness. Fourteen thousand committed the offense between noon and midnight. London furnished the largest number of convictions, 21,000; Liverpool came next with 15,000; and Manchester with 15,000. In Wales 9,000 drunkards were fined and imprisoned during the year.

It is reported at the clubs that a sensational scandal in high life which will throw the Duke and Duchess into the shade is on the tapis. It will be tried in the Irish courts, the plaintiff being a foreign nobleman, and whose wife, who is highly connected with several aristocratic Dublin families and possessor of great accomplishments and attractions, has been maliciously abused and despite all her husband's efforts still remains undiscovered.

PALMER'S VIEWS.
President Palmer Gives His Suggestions on the Coming Fair.
CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Jackson Park will be used for the overflow, said President Palmer of the National Columbian Exposition commission. "The principal building, I think, will be on Washington Park," continued Mr. Palmer. "The main buildings will be in the center of the park on the open space. The style of architecture has not yet been determined. I would favor an oriental style. Around the main buildings will be arranged the state buildings with the exhibits along the midway pleasure."

"I propose that we have streets of London, Jerusalem, Constantinople, Seville, Alexandria, Baghdad and other cities. On these streets should be facsimiles of historic buildings. The Germans ought to be invited to put up some representation of historical structures. The French might bring us the last of the Louvre, the Walhalla. The Scottish people should be invited to bring us the home of Robert Burns. Some historical society might erect the house of Shakespeare at Stratford-on-Avon."

"State having historic houses should be asked to place facsimiles of them on the ground. Mount Vernon, the home of Washington would be an attractive exhibit, and so would many other historic buildings."

Now He'll Want Pay.
MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 25.—Salem W. Miller a veteran of the war of 1861, has discovered that he is yet undischarged from service. Miller lives at Pine Island, Minn., and still claims the effects of a broken ankle received in the service. He enlisted Oct. 10, 1861, in Company D, Fifth Minnesota Volunteers and served four years as a private, becoming a corporal just before the close of the war. He has never been discharged and is a corporal in the United States army.

Sioux City's Price.
SIOUX CITY, Iowa, Sept. 25.—The fourth annual corn palace opened at 7 o'clock last evening with a concert by the celebrated Elgin band. There were no addresses or formalities whatever, people giving their attention to the beauties of the building and exhibit. The exhibition will continue till October 11.

Values Her High.
BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.—John Stierbach was $75,000 damages from William H. Evans, a wealthy marble importer, for alienating his wife's affections and inducing her to get a divorce. The case was begun in the superior court yesterday. The parties in the suit are prominent in social circles.

TELEGRAPH SHEETS.
A dispute over the location of the county seat in Base county, Col., yesterday, culminated in a field fight, in which it is reported several were killed.

THE SHOE FACTORY FIGHT.

The Companies Seeking Non-Union men to do The Work.

LYNN, Mass., Sept. 25.—The number of non-union employees in John T. Moulton's shoe factory last evening had been increased to nine. They live in the building. At 11 p. m., a force of thirteen armed men entered the factory. Moulton, N. J., arrived here. Agent Moulton states that thirty more men are ready to come here immediately.

A flag was unfurled at Moulton's factory shoe factory yesterday in recognition of the success attending the effort to make it a free shop. Mr. Moulton has secured a full crew of non-unionists, but the local leaders assert that the new men are not shoe-makers and cannot do the work.

IN COURT.

Only $500 Against the Chandler Iron Company; West Duluth Loses $775.

The jury in the case of Svend Olson and Louis J. Hopkins vs. West Duluth awarded them $775. A stay of thirty days was granted.

In the matter of appeal from an order of the probate court for the sale of certain real estate belonging to the estate of Thomas P. McGowan, trial was set for Oct. 6. In the case of Richard A. Cogan et al. vs. the Chicago Paving Company, Judge Stephens ordered a judgment entered for plaintiff. The case of Philip W. Graff vs. David Buchanan and Edna Blanchard is on trial today.

Before Judge Essinger, John Nelson was awarded a jury verdict for $200 against the Chandler Iron company for personal injuries received. A stay was granted for sixty days.

In the case of James C. Grant vs. Peck & Son.

CATTLE MEN ORGANIZE.

The Dealers in Live Stock to Organize Against the Trust.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—An organization of cattle men against the combination or trust system is on the tapis. The leading spirit in the movement is W. T. Hunter, a large cattleman and horse dealer for many years. He has visited a large number of cattle men in the South and West, all of whom have expressed themselves strongly on the present condition of an anti-trust association.

In a confidential circular, over twenty thousand copies of which will be sent out today, addressed to the cattle men of the United States, Mr. Hunter says as follows: "The time has now come for us to form an association of some kind protecting ourselves from the 'trust' which has been steadily working against us, or in a very short time we shall have no business left."

"What we want is an association which will protect us, regulate the sending of cattle to market, and advise us as to the best time to sell. I have over $35,000 invested in cattle, which I will hold over until next year in preference to shipping while the markets are at such ruinous prices."

"Many wealthy friends, standing behind me with their money, are perfectly willing, if I can form an association, to advance any amount of money to help us hold our own. We can then control the markets, sell and ship when we please, and at our prices, doing away with the brokers' commission of fifty cents per head, which last year amounted to over $5,000,000, not including over $2,000,000 yardage."

THE CAR MEN MET.

Executive Committee of the Association of Car Men in Minneapolis.

MINNEAPOLIS, Sept. 25.—The grand officers of the Brotherhood of Railway Car Men of America met at the Paultown house, Minneapolis, yesterday afternoon. The principal business transacted was to wind up the affairs of the old organization. The new order is composed of the M. A. A. and Brotherhood of Railway Car Repairers, the two orders having consolidated a short time since at Minneapolis.

There were present Grand Chief Carman W. H. Romm, Cedar Rapids, Ia.; Grand Secretary and Treasurer S. Hollister, Minneapolis; P. Hazelwood, Minneapolis; J. Wyman, Vinton, Ia.; and P. Kelly, Duluth, the executive committee. The new order, besides having twenty-one lodges in different parts of the country, holds seven applications for charters to be furnished as soon as the changes can be made in printing. It is the intention of the new order to push organization as rapidly as possible.

CRYING FOR MORE.

New York, Sept. 25.—There is daily talk of the scarcity of money and the people wonder why it is that Wall Street has not got all the money it wants for the business of the country.

A Wall Street banker said today: "People cannot understand why trade that swells the clearings of the leading cities 15 to 20 per cent cannot be carried on with a gain of 3 per cent in the currency. They pay no attention whatever to the withdrawal of the circulation of the national banks almost as fast as the new silver dollars have been coined. They do not appreciate the fact that our exports are falling off, while our imports increase. Nevertheless the month of August shows a gain for the first time in many months."

The balance is in our favor, not because at last the flow of imports has begun to show a falling off. Let us hope that the turn has come and that the long we may see imports of gold, which, under the circumstances, are overdue.

The tenth series of stock in the Home-land Building & Loan association is now being sold. The association is a safe, sure or profitable investment can be made. Only a limited number of shares remain. For stock or information call on

THE BILL ALL RIGHT.

The Tariff Bill Said to be Finally Agreed To.

THE PHILADELPHIA SAID TO BE BAD.

Reports That the Fast Cruiser is Not What She Should Be; Washington Topics.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—A democratic conference is authority for the statement that every disputed point has been finally agreed upon by the tariff conference committee and that as soon as the comparison of the bill and report is completed they will be presented to the house.

The bill is to go into effect Oct. 5, and the house is expected to pass it by Sept. 26. The bill is free, and above that they will pay a duty of half a cent per pound. The duty on binding twine is fixed at seven-tenths of a cent per pound.

The sugar schedule contains a provision in addition to the half-cent duty on grades above No. 16 an additional duty of one-tenth of a cent per pound shall be imposed on such sugars when imported from a country which pays a larger export bounty on refined sugars than the raw product.

DEFECTS IN THE PHILADELPHIA.

An Officer of the New Cruiser Says She Will Prove a Failure.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25.—In a day or two the new United States cruiser Philadelphia is expected to start on her third trial trip. This time she will go to New London, and naval officers and others acquainted with the features of the ship think there is a big chance of the trial resulting unsatisfactorily to both the navy and the ship.

It is stated that the machinery of the vessel is thoroughly deficient in more than the trifling defects for which the vessel has been most remarkable. A noticeable feature is that none of these defects were discovered until after the vessel had been put into commission, although a board of competent officers are supposed to have made a thorough examination. The fact that there are serious defects which, it is not improbable, will result in a failure of the machinery, did not become known until a few nights ago, when one of her officers admitted that in his opinion there is reasonable ground for the belief that the vessel will prove a failure if more than a few minor defects are demanded of her.

It is rumored in naval circles that an inspection of the vessel by the South Sea and a supplemental report presented to the department describing the defects, admitted in his opinion, that the vessel is not fit for service, and that the first report approving the vessel as it stood at the time.

QUIET AT TIPPERSARY.

Soldiers and Police Patrol the Streets, but Calmness Prevails.

DULUTH, Sept. 25.—The streets of Tipperary were thronged with people till a late hour last night discussing the exciting events of the day.

A little progress has been made toward a disposition of the cases against the arrested nationalists, and as the impression created by the court's ruling was not one complimentary to the tribunals sense of fairness, there was much speculation as to what the morrow would bring.

Leading nationalists had a prolonged consultation in the evening. A further opinion was expressed that the court's ruling was a gross injustice, and that the police force to account for some of the clashing in front of the court house yesterday will be made. The situation at Tipperary this morning is much more tranquil than yesterday. The streets are thronged with people, who seem to be laboring under suppressed excitement, but there has been no collision with the police.

The authorities are taking special precautions to guard against the possibility of an outbreak. A detachment of soldiers is assisting the police in keeping order. The space in front of the court house is held by a line of the army, and both soldiers and police are patrolling the streets.

The session of the court for the trial of the nationalists, which began this morning, when the hour of opening the proceedings was announced, that it would be impossible to go on with the cases this morning. The judge of the court required the building to be vacated, and the court adjourned until further proceedings until the afternoon.

THE SITUATION ALARMING.

Captain Trimbleton Predicts a General Indian Uprising.

PRINCETON, Sept. 25.—Capt. Trimbleton of the Seventh United States cavalry, commandant at Fort Pitt, passed through Pittsburgh yesterday. He says the greatest Indian uprising of recent years is certain to come. The Indians, he says, have got the idea that the great medicine man is coming to wipe out the whites and to turn them over to the ownership of the country. They have entered with all the fervor of fanatics upon a series of incantations and orgies.

The 5000 Indians about Ft. Pitt have renewed Christianity had in a certain spirit in a short time somebody will pretend to be the expected great medicine man and the trouble will begin.

He thinks all the United States garrisons should be doubled.

Swichman's Strike Over.
CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—The switching at the stock yards are over for the present. The switching engines of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad were sent to the yards last evening without the men whose presence threatened to precipitate a general tie up, and everything went on smoothly.

Heary Will Talk.
BOSTON, Sept. 25.—Herbert Watterston, who is to be the chief guest at the banquet of the Massachusetts Reform club tonight, arrived here last evening. In his speech tonight, Mr. Watterston will discuss several live political issues, including the tariff and the Force bill. He will also devote his remarks to the sectional issue.

THEIR FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Standing of a Well-Known Lumber Firm. Recently Embarrassed.

ANTIOCH, Wis., Sept. 25.—The report of the assignee of Horie & Moller, the lumbermen and merchants who failed three weeks ago, has been filed.

It shows their liabilities $730,000 and nominal assets $631,125. But in this last amount is included the following disputed claims: $700,000 worth of mortgages on personal property in this state and Michigan covering about one-half of the personal property; $100,000 of property in Michigan and $50,000 here held under attachments against the firm and $10,000 A. C. Bent of Oshkosh has repaid.

FOR EDGE TOOLS.

A Southern Steel Using Company That Is Looking for a Manufacturing Site.

Morris O. Brooks, representing the Union Steel works of Louisville, Ky., large manufacturers of edge tools, is in the city and has been looking for a location for the new plant of the Union Steel works, the old buildings having been destroyed recently by fire. The company is considering the advisability of locating the Iron Steel company, which is now moving to this city from near Cincinnati.

Mr. Brooks was this afternoon interviewed by a Herald reporter and clearly showed his desire to come to Duluth, as the edge tools can be manufactured here. The location of the steel plant here shows the consideration iron men are giving to the city.

Do you refer to the Iron Steel plant? Mr. Brooks thought would be immense.

Said he today "I consider Duluth the inevitable future wholesale point of the Northwest, and the success of all iron industries here. We use only Lake Superior iron, and the country accessible from here will use the edge tools we can manufacture. The location of the steel plant here shows the consideration iron men are giving to the city."

Mr. Brooks expressed himself as greatly pleased with the beauty and desirability of Duluth.

IN ANNUAL SESSION.

National Prison Association and Auxiliary Bodies Convened at Cincinnati.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 25.—The first day's session of the twentieth annual congress of the National Prison Association was called to order in the Scottish Rite cathedral, at 10 o'clock this morning, by ex-President Hayes of Ohio. The attendance was very large, the body of the hall being crowded, while a large number of distinguished guests were present.

After a brief session of the president's voluminous report from the standing committee on national law reform, consisting of Messrs. Francis Wayland of New Haven, Conn.; Charles H. Reeve of Plymouth, Ind.; and Henderson M. Sorenson of Montgomery, Ala., was called to order, which was followed by an address by the president, Mr. R. W. McClure, formerly Chief Warden of the Joliet, Ill., penitentiary, but now of Huntington, Penn.

At tonight's session of the congress an address will be delivered by the Hon. Samuel H. Hays, U. S. C. The eminent lawyer and statesman of Toronto.

COLORED Y. M. C. A.

The Annual Report Will Show the Order Not Prosperous.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 25.—The annual convention of the National Colored Young Men's Christian Association opened here today. Among them were Albert Mack of Louisville, the chief evangelist of the order, Hon. Albert White of New York, General Secretary Hammond, Corresponding Secretary Frye and H. C. Richardson, all of Louisville, and Dr. John Welsh of Shelbyville. The annual report will say that it has made considerable progress during the year although the receipts have been small, and Mack has been compelled to pay most of the expenses out of his own pocket. The question of erecting a national building in this city for headquarters will be considered. Mack complains bitterly that the association is antagonized by numbers of his own race.

A Case For Courts.

CARSON, Nev., Sept. 25.—The recent death of Governor Stevenson has resulted in a question as to who is his legal successor. Some persons hold that Bell becomes acting governor, but owing to a constitutional provision he cannot draw any salary. Others hold that Governor Stevenson's successor is Lieutenant Governor Davis being dead, the president of the senate takes the place, while there are still others who urge that Secretary of State Dwyer is the party who really is governor.

STEEL IN THE FUTURE.

Important Figures by Statistician Atkinson.

AMERICA TO BE THE GREATEST MAKER

As Well as the Greatest Consumer; The Tremendous Production of Ten Years Hence.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 25.—In view of the vast of 500 or 600 of the leading iron and steel makers of Europe to the United States in October, Hon. Edward Atkinson of Boston contributes to The Manufacturers Record an elaborate paper on the iron and steel interests of the world.

This country is the greatest consumer of iron and steel. Owing to the nearness of the ore and coal, as against the long haul of ores from Spain and Africa to Great Britain and the increased depth and heat of the coal mines of England, he believes that iron and steel will be made in this country at as low a cost as in England, notwithstanding the higher wages.

The world's consumption of iron and steel will, for the next ten years, fully tax the productive powers of this and all other iron-making countries to keep up with it and hence, while there may be fluctuations, prices on the whole must tend upwards throughout the world.

Basing his estimates on careful calculations he holds that the present world's production of 25,000,000 net tons of pig iron, of which the United States will make during 1890 about 10,000,000 tons, must within the next ten years, be increased to not less than 44,000,000 tons, even at the lowest possible rate of increase based on the rate of growth that has continued from 1856 to the present time, while the rate of increase of late years, during which the demand for iron has so broadened, would show that the world must have not less than 50,000,000 tons in 1900. These calculations are based on the normal rate of growth for the last fifty years.

It is in the South that Mr. Atkinson believes the world's iron and steel production will center, and this industrial advance "he says, "and probably will settle the race question."

MARKING UP THE FIGURES.

Increase in the Price of Dry Goods to Go Into Effect Oct. 1.

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—The dry goods dealers have determined not to let an opportunity to elevate prices escape them, and it is announced that on Oct. 1 current rates will be raised 20 per cent. This course was determined upon at a conference held in this city two weeks ago, at which representatives of the leading dry goods establishments of the country were present. With this view they agreed to create the impression that the stringency extended to legitimate business circles and a reason for it was advanced. It was said and caused to be published that the rates will be raised 20 per cent on hand had been sent abroad to pay for increased importations which American merchants were bringing over to escape the provisions of the McKinley bill. As dry goods men were not taxed any more for imports than they were last

WOULD BUY THE BLET LINE

The Duluth Terminal & Transfer Co. Getting There.

PROJECT FOR INCREASING ITS LINE.

An Important Trip of Duluth & Winnipeg Officials Over the Line; Other Railway News.

With the aim of building tracks and terminals from Duluth to Fond du Lac the Duluth Terminal & Transfer company whose plans were stated a week ago, was incorporated. Already the right-of-way is being secured, and the company will build its tracks as soon as possible. It is comparatively an easy matter to secure the land for tracks from West Duluth to Fond du Lac, but between West Duluth and Duluth is where the difficulty has lain. To overcome this the Duluth Terminal & Transfer company has made an offer to the Belt Line company for all rights and privileges, lands and tracks already built at West Duluth. The Belt Line company operates tracks from the incline station to the Marquette works and the Iron Bay Iron works, and has nearly completed tracks to Hunter's and Brown's mill on Grassy Point, so that it now has over three miles of track laid. It is understood that the Belt line people have given an option on their property and that the deal is as good as closed.

Leading Duluth & Winnipeg Officials.
A prominent party of Duluth & Winnipeg officials arrived in the city this morning, and left at 10:30 for a special train for Grand Rapids. Among the party were B. N. Baker, president; W. H. Fisher, general manager; J. W. Leckie, attorney; Benjamin White, and George C. Lord, president of the Boston & Maine road, Boston. These gentlemen will take a tour over the line, returning to Duluth Monday. It is stated that a representative of Drexel, Morgan & Co., is with them, and that the visit means more than floating of bonds, or than merely a tour of inspection.

"There is but little for me to say," said President Baker to a Herald reporter. "We are going to make a tour of inspection over the road, returning to Duluth Monday. It is impossible to say when the government authorities will allow us to proceed with work, but it is already so late in the season that but comparatively little work can be done."

Passenger Rate War.
CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—St. Paul passenger rates are tottering. Tickets can be obtained in every section of the country at $5, which is $1 less than the price charged by authorized agents. One of the Chicago St. Paul lines, yesterday, sent a man on tour of all the scalpers' offices, without a single exception, there were found in each office tickets to St. Paul over the St. Paul & Kansas City road for sale at $5.

Gen. Barry Dead.

A GROWING ERUPTION.

Indicates That Trouble Is Coming on the Northwestern.

CHICAGO, Sept. 27.—If general statements are any indication, there are more serious grievances than a demand for an increase in pay back of the meeting of the general grievance committee of the broken and conductors of the Northwestern railway, just finished in this city. An issue is likely to be raised in the near future that will overshadow all considerations of hours and wages, and that is existence of the brotherhood among the employees of the company. This is rather a surprising state of affairs, as the Northwestern has always had the reputation of dealing with its men with much consideration and of promoting rather than opposing the organization of the employees in the train service. But now, these men complain that many of them are being discharged without sufficient cause, and that, no satisfactory reasons are assigned. The suspicion that this was done for the purpose of breaking up the various brotherhoods was clinched by an utterance which is reported to have been recently made by a master mechanic of the road to the effect that he had orders to show no mercy to the men. The men suspect an understanding among lines, Vanderbilt lines, if not among railroad presidents in general, to disrupt the unions, and the Northwestern is set down as a Vanderbilt line in spite of the recent official statement that only one-tenth of its stock is held by the Vanderbilt line. The men say that President Huggitt was in Europe at the time the union was formed, and that he was with Mr. Depew, and traveled with him and kept his company a great deal. The first of Combs, Barbour & Combs, extensive machinists of Belfast, Ireland, and it is believed as possible, is being built on the prison grounds which will be ready before the machinery is received. The entire plant with the improvements will cost the state about $50,000, and will give employment to a large number of convicts. The managers have been cautious in securing this plant not to incur the enmity of the Knights of Labor, and they do not believe that the latter can reasonably offer any opposition because of the fact that aside from Cheating & Co. of Chicago, there is not a binding twine factory west of Xenia, O.

Shipping 4,500,000 Feet of Lumber.
A large quantity of lumber is being unloaded at the St. Paul & Duluth docks today. The shipment is made by Duncan, Brewer & Co., and it is estimated to purchase in Tennessee. There are 4,500,000 feet in the consignment. The lumber was saved at the Cloquet and Tower mills, and will go in two loads by the Wahnapitae, which is on the way up with brick.

Booked to Fight.
Pat Killeen and Joe Sheehy, pugilists, both very well known in Duluth, are booked to fight tonight in St. Paul. It is almost even bets as to whether one or the other of the pugilists will find a hole to crawl out of at the last minute, and his dollars to doughnuts figuring on their past records that, they did not win, it will be a hippodrome.

Uranian Railroad Grants.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 27.—The commission of the general land office has issued a rule upon the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway company to show cause why a reconveyance should not be made to the United States as contemplated by the act of March 1, 1890, for about 50,000 acres within the state of Minnesota, heretofore certified and patented on account of the grant to said company.

Manager Hall of the States Prison Returns from a Trip: Another Investment Company.

M. O. Hall one of the members of the board of prison managers returned this morning from an extensive Eastern trip. Mr. Hall J. S. O'Brien of Stillwater, and Frank Temple of Blue Earth were appointed a committee from the board to visit different prisons and investigate as the best method of utilizing prison labor.

The principal object was to secure, if possible, a plant for the manufacture of binding twine. In doing this they had two objects in view, first to encourage the raising of flax in our own state, and second to manufacture a product for use in Minnesota. The committee visited prisons at Cincinnati, Columbus, Harrisburg and other cities in the East. At New York a plant was purchased from the firm of Combs, Barbour & Combs, extensive machinists of Belfast, Ireland, and it is believed as possible, is being built on the prison grounds which will be ready before the machinery is received.

MURPHY HERE.

The Noted Murderer Returns to Duluth Under Guard, but He'll Say Nothing to the Papers.

"New Orleans," Murphy, in charge of Detective Madden arrived this afternoon from Chicago. He was met at the depot by a large crowd and a patrol wagon. He refused to talk with reporters and was immediately transferred to the chief's office and from there to a cell in the county jail. Detective Hayden said that the prisoner was very reticent and reluctant to talk about the murder on the trip. He stated, however, that he had a brother who resembled him in almost every feature, and that he was so brutally murdered when asked by the officer if the murderer was not likely the same person he replied, "Yes, that might be so."

When arrested by the Chicago authorities Murphy gave the name of Smith and later on to the jailer admitted that his right name was Michael Brennan. The young man who was so brutally murdered on the night of July 29 was known to associate with the prisoner and was known about town as "Little Willie."

BEYOND ALL EXPECTATIONS.

The Success of the People's Savings Bank.

Two months ago when the People's Savings Bank opened its doors for business, none would have believed that in less than sixty days its deposits would have reached sixty thousand dollars, ($20,000). Nevertheless such is the case. That such an institution was needed has been proved beyond a doubt. The question is frequently asked, why is it so popular? In answer we would give a few facts concerning their method of doing business.

First: All benefits go to the depositor.

Second: They pay 5% interest.

Third: Interest paid on three months deposits.

Fourth: You can draw your money at any time.

Fifth: You can draw part and get interest on the remainder.

Sixth: Open Saturday night until 8 p. m.

Seventh: The only legal savings bank in Duluth.

THE PROPER CAPER.

A Pointer For Our Home Government and Sanitary Authorities.

New York, Sept. 27th.—A copy of the order issued by the local government board of Great Britain, under authority of the cabinet, in connection with the spread of cholera in Spain, reached the British consul today. It reads as follows: "Whereas cholera is now prevalent in certain parts of Spain, and it is expedient that regulations should be made as hereinafter mentioned, with reference to ships having on board bales of rags from that country, we, the local government board, by virtue of the authority vested in us, make the following regulations:

"From and after Sept. 12, and until Dec. 31, 1890, no rags from Spain shall be delivered overseas for purposes of export, nor landed at any port or place in England or Wales. If any rags shall be delivered overseas, or landed in contravention of this order, they shall, without further proceedings, be destroyed with proper precautions.

All masters of vessels, consignees or other persons having control of any rags prohibited under this order from being delivered except for the purpose of export, are required to obey these regulations.

"It shall be the duty of sanitary authority to take proceedings against shipmasters, consignees or other persons having control over any rags who shall wilfully neglect or refuse to obey or carry out, or shall obstruct the execution of any of these regulations.

It should be noted that bales of rags are largely imported into England from Spain and Italy for the purpose of paper-making, while a still larger quantity is transhipped from Liverpool and London to New York, and the present is the busiest season of the trade. New York steamers frequently bring over several hundred tons.

Weekly Bank Statement.

New York, Sept. 27.—The weekly bank statement shows the following changes: Reserve, increase, $11,700,000; loans, increase, $1,000,000; deposits, increase, $1,000,000; circulation, decrease, $1,000,000. The banks now hold $14,075,400 in excess of the requirements of the 25 per cent rule.

A Pretty Division.

Fourth division to Lester Park is nearly ready to put on the market. The plat has not yet been filed, but it will be within the week. Fourth division is located across the river from Lester Park, being connected with it by the new bridge just being built. To the west of the river is a large acre tract, which may possibly be used for the location of a private school. In this division three pieces of land are already cleared—two for park purposes, and a tract of several acres on the lake shore to be used for the no pump house and water works of the Duluth Gas & Water company.

E. E. SHERWIN.

Activity at Bay View Heights. The manufacturing growth up the bay, and starting up again of the car works is making itself felt in some of the quietest suburbs. The Bay View Land company report a strong demand for lots on the hill, and have sold some $45,000 worth of acres and lots during the past six weeks. The public are evidently realizing the value of accessible suburban property adjacent to where the great manufacturing growth is taking place.

A CORNER FOR WOMEN.

Part Played by the Stage in the Fashions of Life.

THE WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS

Something on Fashions Also; A More Than Centenarian of Rhode Island; Notes.

FEW people perhaps recognize the important part played by the stage in the minor affairs of life, especially in such matters as pertain to women's dress, their trifling aids to the toilet, and the thousand and one bagatelles that go to make a feminine personality chic and attractive. Let any decisive and widely copied fashion make its appearance, and ten to one, it hasn't been invented by royalty, it has originated on the stage.

In Europe it invariably happens that the great dressmakers who cater to the world of fashion exercise their genius first upon "creations" destined for actresses, and aristocratic dames do not hesitate to trail over the parquet of their exclusive salons the identical styles of costume that grace the beauty of Mme. Tait or Mme. Tait, of the Comedie Francaise. If a really novel and beautiful gown is seen behind the footlights it is sure to appear later in the drawing room. This is not at all astonishing when one considers the prominence enjoyed everywhere by the theatre and its representatives. Look in our daily papers, and where you will find a column of meager details concerning the attire of the nation you will discover two columns devoted to the stage, and additional personal notes of actors and actresses. Nobody objects to this. At least I do not. For my own part I would sooner read about some leading lady's Paris wardrobe than about the President's cabinet or the gambols of Baby McKee. The stage represents the amusement of the people as well as the legitimate exercise of a fine art, and it is certainly entitled to as much "space" as the other fine arts of baseball, horse racing and slugging matches.

Have you ever observed how little attention women in society really pay to each other's dress, although cynics will have it that they think of nothing else, and are in consequence given over to envy, hatred, malice and all uncharitable notions? The fact is, where crowd and conversation, or what passes for conversation, are in evidence nobody has either the time or the inclination to notice whether Mrs. Asterisk wears silk or satin, or whether her gown is draped or plain, or what sort of shoes she affects.

Without a doubt the most artistic dressing to be found anywhere is seen on the stage. An actress, if she have not genius or even the mildest sort of talent, can nevertheless charm the eye, and thus indirectly the senses, by the mere possession of good clothes and jewels. When Mrs. Langtry first came to America it is possible that the professional critics thought only of her acting, but it would be safe to assert that every woman, old or young, ugly or pretty, who attended her performances thought only of her—her gowns, the curves of her figure, the exquisite tint of her complexion, the precise manner in which the jeweled pins were thrust into her hair, etc. Milliners and dressmakers flocked to the theatre, and in an inconceivable short space of time we had Langtry hats and Langtry cloaks and Langtry perfumes, and heaven knows what else besides.

When Mrs. Potter played Cleopatra all New York went mad—over what? Her impersonation of the fated queen? Not at all. Were over such roles soon before? Were they not enough to make the soul of a woman sigh itself out of envious yearning? That elegant reptile the asp came into fashion at once. Gold and jeweled girdles and scarves were to be seen everywhere. The rich autumn tints of Mrs. Potter's hair straightway created a perfect furor for ruddy locks, and the market was flooded with all sorts of dyes and washes warranted to do the business after a few applications. If you hadn't auburn hair you were nobody.

Then came Jeanne Hading, whose tresses were also this color, and the red dyes and washes were in greater demand than ever. Dear me! When I think of the Hading bonnets, and above all the Hading veils, which made our women resemble an army of men with the iron masks, my head positively whirls. The worst of it was that the Hading veils were becoming to nobody, not even to the fair Jeanne herself. They were a histriotic fade and nothing more.

Perhaps no artist who has achieved fame on the stage has given so many varied and continued hints to women of fashion as Sara Bernhardt. Her original genius has betrayed itself in a thousand ways from the minutest shade of facial expression to the tip of a new fashion slipper. Throughout the civilized world has this extraordinary woman been awarded the intense flattery of millions by her sister women. She has for years been the cynosure of all eyes; the despair of the graceless, the admiration of the beautiful. She has shown women the superiority of mere dress over mere beauty. It is to her that fashion is indebted for the long wrinkled mousquetaire gloves, the full plumed lace and ribbon, the ruffled gabelle and other paraphernalia devised expressly with the object of concealing angles that should have been rounded curves. All the modes, in short, which by some strangely illogical sequence have since become apparently the exclusive property of the genus fat woman sprang from the divine Sara.

Adeline Patti, who makes the preservation of her complexion as much a life study as the preservation of her voice, has by affixing her signature to sundry skin beautifiers done more to assure their sale and ready adoption by fashionable women that could have been obtained by twice the amount of ordinary advertising.

When Mme. Aimee began her career in this country the exquisite texture and the artistic design of her alien stockings became a topic of conversation everywhere. Shops were ransacked, orders were given, and eventually silk stockings of the most extraordinary styles were given a boom such as I will venture to say they never had before, and possibly may never have again. There is one fashion in vogue which originated with a successful actress, Mr. Dreyer. It was he who introduced the buckled shoes now worn by all our belles, and having done this, it seems to me, he is entitled to share a portion of the honor formerly enjoyed by the deceased Mr. Montague, the inventor of the famous "Montague curls."

It is part of an actress' business to look well. She must not only be dressed to perfection, but she must have an irreproachable complexion and a good figure. Fancy a Juliet with a red nose or plump cheeks! Imagine Camille with badly fitting corsets. Who would sympathize with the wear of any stage heroine who had a mustache?

The actress, knowing all this, is particularly careful to take care of herself. She leads as regular a life as she can outside of her professional duties; she bathes, and diets and conforms to the laws of hygiene. Consequently she is often younger and prettier than the society miss who keeps late hours and indulges in every sort of irregularity. There is an art of living as well as an art of dressing, and it must be conceded that the actress, generally speaking, understands both to perfection.

CLARA LANZA.

Fashion.

The newest caprice of fashion is to have the skirt of the dress made plain all around and to have the material caught up under the bust or waists of ribbon at equidistant spaces, thus forming festoons all around. This style will be seen on the street, and on any "at home" dress that it may suit the tastes of the wearer.

Painters are also seen on very many costumes, and in some cases are made of lace, other times of the material of the dress in which the dress is made, and sometimes they are of velvet, silk or the richly woven brocades in Persian colors and close patterns that are now so aptly used as vest fronts, etc., for handsome gowns.

With hoops and paniers these ugly festoons were bound to come. They are inseparable and indelibly ugly and unbecoming. Flounces are graceful, and are seen in great variety around the bottom of most of the newest gowns, plaited or gathered, straight or bias; it makes no difference how made.

The newest bonnets are either very dark or very light, and all are small. The hats project over the face as far as possible. While soft and velvety, they are trimmed with rubies, velvet and a whole flock of tiny jet black sparrows. Quirrease bonnets, covered with steel, or gilt, or black beads in the form of chain armor are very much worn by young ladies of slim figure.

Plaid costumes on the bias are more seen in the street than any other. Shepherds' plaids and pinchee plaids, in blue and white are trimmed sparingly, but effectively, with black velvet. Portiere cuffs, collar and girdle are often of velvet, and so arranged that they can be worn with any costume. Half snug reefer jackets will be very popular this fall for young persons.

WOMAN'S WORLD.

Small Business Women Eat Luncheon "Under Direction" of Restaurants.

Not long since I went to Chicago hurriedly, with much business to attend to in a short time. One o'clock caught myself and friend in the heart of the city, opposite a well-known restaurant. We entered, following the crowd. At the door we were stopped. "Ladies are not allowed in here," said the waiter. "This is a business man's restaurant. There is a ladies' dining room up stairs. Up stairs we went. We took in the situation at a glance—a gaudy, swallow-tailed, waiter-facing business, waiting half an hour for the least order, with a grinning monkey at your elbow, listening to all you say, remarking audibly unless you get a gorgeous dinner, rolling up the whites of his eyes and sneering in your face unless you give him a fee which is enough to buy your whole dinner elsewhere. I am so sick of that kind of thing that the English language cannot express my feelings. He looked witheringly at the dread presence that came forward to smite us into a seat. "Is this the only place where business women can go for a baked potato and a cup of chocolate?" The snicker said it was. "And I suppose the prices are twice as much as they are down stairs?" "Yes, they are three times as much," answered the snicker. This, then, was all the great restaurant in the second largest city of the Union could do for business women.

Earrings and pierced ears are going out of fashion.

A nice girl compositor was working at her case busily one day some years ago when she saw a certain rood looking man whose acquaintance she afterward made. In course of time the two were married and the girl became Mrs. Miller.

Now the nice girl printer's husband is governor of North Dakota.

In Chicago men teachers have almost disappeared from the public schools except as principals, and the women are crowding them back even there. Miss Bernard, principal of the Jones school, has been in the Chicago public schools fifty years. Some of the girls have reached the place of assistant superintendent and get a salary of $5500.

The trade in cut flowers for the cities is becoming larger and larger every year, and the demand is happily one that will never go out of fashion. Women are very successful as florists, and if they would turn their attention with zeal and sense to the business many of them would amass wealth in the course of years. The work is beautiful and healthful.

One of the noblest women ever born to bless and help her sex was the late Lydia Becker, of England. She was a member of the Manchester school board, and there worked especially for the industrial education of girls. She believed that if the daughters of the poor could be made accomplished cooks and housekeepers knowing how to sew and make the most and the best of what they had, it would go a long way toward ameliorating the condition of all.

She arranged for instruction to evening classes in sewing, cooking, nursing and laundering during the present year. These women who know something and have won high honors in their studies do not have to wait for opportunity to work. Helen Leah Rod, who captured the Sargent prize at Harvard last commencement, has already become literary editor of the Boston Advertiser while Elizabeth Hodges, who distinguished herself at the Oxford examinations in England, is to become mistress of St. Mary's college at Johannesburg, South Africa.

Lady Dilke and John Burns are working together in the effort to form women into trades unions in England. Lady Dilke told the members of the labor congress that she had found many girls in the chain making trade working seventy-five hours a week for sixty cents. Do we flatter ourselves that slavery has ceased to exist among civilized nations? The German government is about to put its women employees in the postoffice, telegraph and telephone departments into a picturesque uniform, consisting of blue gowns, with bright buttons and orange collar and facings.

OVER ONE HUNDRED YEARS.

A Little Rhode Island Woman Who Celebrates Her 100th Birthday.

Mrs. Rachel Stillwagon, of Flushing, L. I., whom the residents of that place proudly declare is the oldest living woman on the island, yesterday celebrated her 100th birthday. Until this year the event was always made the occasion for a big celebration, all the old lady's friends from near and far calling to offer their congratulations. This year, however, the union was dispensed with, as no one but the immediate members of the family were permitted to see or converse with her.

This course was taken by her son, who is himself a very old man, who thought that the strain would be too much for her. Six weeks ago she was taken with a severe illness, and she has not yet recovered from the attack. Her eldest son said, in alluding to her somewhat. Outside of these matters Mrs. Stillwagon is still strong and hearty, and she still retains a vast amount of energy. Her memory is something wonderful, and she preserves lively recollections of Washington and of the stirring times of the Revolution. As to her knowledge of other events which old New Yorkers have long since forgotten, the following letter, written by her son to a friend, explaining why there would be no birthday party, will give some idea:

"Dear Sir—Mother still has a clear recollection of the whipping post in the Postoffice and the debtors prison in City Hall park. 'Bridgeport' in Broadway and other places of interest. Poetry, flowers and music have been her delight. Her beautiful garden of flowers in the yard of her residence in Union and Monroe streets is still cultivated for her, and in the winter a supply comes from a conservatory built on the south side of the house. Her mind is as clear as ever, and until within a few weeks she has been in good health, but since then she has been unable to leave her bed. The usual family party will not be held this year, as the excitement might be fatal to her. Mrs. Stillwagon is rather short of sight, but her sight is much improved. She wears old-fashioned spectacles, until she wears a pair of new ones. She has performed her own housework and made her own dresses, and on her 100th birthday she made a cake for a church fair. She was the mother of seven children, three of whom are now living—two daughters and one son.

Mrs. Stillwagon was born on Sept. 18, 1785, in Tarrytown. She was the daughter of Abraham and Catherine Van Wart Acker. The family removed from Tarrytown to this city when she was only 8 years old. On Valentine's day, 1811, she married David Stillwagon, and began housekeeping in Stone street, near Broad, where she lived many years. Her mother, Catherine Van Wart, was the daughter of Wm. Van Wart, and the records of the old Dutch church at Tarrytown show that she was baptized there April 27, 1762.

An Undesirable Father-in-Law.

Detroit Free Press: The Shah has eight daughters, all of whom are the wives of men once rich. Of these sons-in-law the Shah has taken the conceit and the money out of seven, the other one escaping only because he held a high place in the church and was in a position to cry "Hands off!" even to the monarch. It is not likely that the daughters of the potentate would have married off with such unbecomingly if it had been safe to ignore a gentle hint to marry one of them.

Afternoon—Reports of the Sunday School Lesson Helps; A. E. Major; miscellaneous.

Evening—Sermon.

The services will be held in the Christian church on Fourth street, near Fifth avenue west, and are expected to be of much interest.

That pleasant little book "Black Beauty, or the Uncle Tom's Cabin of the Horse," continues to have a wonderful sale and is exerting a beneficent influence. It has been introduced into some of the public schools of the Eastern states for supplementary reading, and it is an excellent book for that purpose, not only because it teaches kindness to animals in the most forcible way, but also because it is written in a singularly easy and pleasant English style. Its popularity is another evidence of the great kindness of humanity. It has been well said: "Most people are kind when they think of it."

One of the noblest virtues is Christian courtesy. This does not mean politeness in manner alone, but genuine interest in all men which is evidenced by a respectful and courteous demeanor. Too many people regard rudeness as at the most a venial sin. It is a Christian duty to be good-natured and pleasant-mannered. There are some people whose goodness you do not doubt, but you dread to approach them on any subject because of their forbidding manner. Not to put to polite a name on it, they are habitually cross and disagreeable. It is a distinctive mark of that love which the apostle praises that it is "kind, doth no harm, believeth all unseemly, is not easily provoked."

How much of the animosity and obnoxiousity that offends the ear so often on the public streets is due to thoughtlessness. Few would imagine in an oath if they realized the tremendous import of the teachings of Christ upon the subject. For instance, a free translation of Matt. v. 23, giving the real meaning of the Hebrew word of condemnation there used, would be: "Whoever shall say to his brother, damn you, shall be himself in danger of the damnation of God in the hell of fire." It is a sad thing to hear children's lips uttering words whose fearful import they utterly fail of comprehending. "By thy words thou shalt be justified, and by thy words thou shalt be condemned."

The movement looking forward toward a federation of the churches is a step in the right direction. It has long been the dream of all true Christians that the various organizations of the church might be brought into organic unity. And the growing interest in the theme makes the fulfillment of the dream daily more and more probable. But meanwhile a practical union of forces among the different sects is not only feasible, but is demanded. The first step toward realizing the principles of federation to practice has been taken in this state. A committee from the union ministers' meetings of St. Paul and Minneapolis is to present to each of the full meetings the plan of appointing three representatives who shall act together to form an advisory committee. To this committee all alleged violations of unity shall be referred. Their advice shall also be asked before any new church is formed by any denomination, and so the over-crowding of churches in small towns and in certain wards of our cities may be avoided. If this plan shall be adopted, and it has already been endorsed by the Congregationalists at their meeting at Northfield, it is hoped that all friction and rivalry between the

THE CATALOGING of books, for unavoidable reasons, has delayed the opening of the circulating department of the public library. A great deal of preliminary work has been accomplished and the librarian expects to have the circulating department open to the public by Nov. 1. About 1000 new books are expected to arrive daily. The reading room is equipped with the leading American and foreign periodicals of which there are eighty-seven. The newspaper files are not yet quite complete.

Brief Notes of New Books.

"Piore da Castiglione" is the title of a story-poem by Stuart Slater, author of "Angelo," which had unusual popularity, is announced for early publication by Houghton, Mifflin & Co.

An English translation of von Meyers' History of Chemistry is announced by Macmillan & Co.

Macmillan & Co. will publish in September an illustrated work by Dr. W. Shuttle of the Smithsonian, entitled "The Mythology of the Raven," a Guide to the Muscular System of Birds.

Elizabeth Stuart Phelps and her husband, Herbert D. Ward, have produced another historical novel, to be issued next month. It is entitled "Come Forth," the hero is Laurence, and other new testament characters are introduced. It can hardly fail to excite animal comment, and promises to be as full of interest as the last of the Margies.

The Toltec Cup, for publisher's right to which the Low Vanderpool company of New York, paid $10,000, is said to have netted the company a goodly sum. It is an intensely thrilling book, and captures its reader from the start. Perhaps it is a trifle too complex, but that is not the fault of the subject, but of the author.

Macmillan & Co. will publish early next month in their Arctura Series "The Buccaneers and Marooners of America," being an account of the adventures and deeds of freedom-fighters of the Spanish main. Edited and illustrated by Howard Pyle, it can hardly fail to be of intense interest to American readers.

Houghton, Mifflin & Co. have ready a book by John Fiske, entitled "Civil Government in the United States Compared with Some Reference to its Origins." In this book Mr. Fiske will set forth the principles and methods of civil government as understood and exemplified in the United States and in the several states, and he traces the rise and development of the various forms of government of towns, counties, cities, states and the nation, with their relations to one another. This book will be of great value to schools, colleges, students of history and to the American citizen.

The price of the book, which is a 12mo of 380 pages, is $1. A remarkably valuable feature of the book will be questions of the text, added at the end of each chapter, designed to stimulate readings, investigations and thought. There is also a bibliographical note at the end of each chapter.

Lutz Mundi, the latest contribution to religious thought, and the best that has appeared for a long time is creating a great stir in the literary circles of Chicago, report a very large western sale.

Jules Verne's latest story, Caesar Casabel, will be out soon by the Cassell Publishing company. The story relates the experiences of a traveling show, directed by M. Caesar Casabel, acrobat and his family together with their horses, dogs, parrot and monkey.

The show travels about in a van, starts from San Francisco on its way to France, there they get for on their journey they are robbed, so the proprietor proposes to return to France by undercrossing on the ice to the Russian possessions. On the journey they meet with such adventures as only Jules Verne knows how to invent. The American element in the story naturally adds greatly to its charm. The book, which is a stout octavo, will be profusely illustrated.

"Civilization: an Historical Review of Its Elements," in 2 vols, 12mo, will soon be issued by S. C. Griggs & Co., Chicago. The author is Charles Morris of Philadelphia, already known as a thoughtful and scholarly writer. This work promises to diverge widely from the course usually pursued by historians on this subject. It seeks to set forth the steps by which the race has passed upward to modern enlightenment, and in this way to discover the philosophy of progress.

With this end in view, the topical method is adopted, and the facts of history are used to illustrate and embellish, rather than to form the ground work of the structure. While this is not a history of civilization in the ordinarily accepted sense of the term, the method proposed must make it such in another and even a higher sense.

The Best Cyclopaedia.

The twenty-third volume of Alden's Manifold Cyclopaedia includes the titles from McCook to Memorial. The volume treats very satisfactorily three states: Maine, Maryland and Massachusetts; and Madagascar, Malabar, Malia and Manitoba. Interesting subjects in other lines are: "Machine Gun," "Magic," "Magna Charta," "Magnetism," "Mammalia," "Man," "Marble," "Marriage" and "Mason." These are named only as samples of what the volume contains. The articles are brought to date, fully illustrated, the style and arrangement are excellent, and the printing satisfactory. For farmers, mechanics, students, teachers, and the great mass of general readers, the Manifold is far superior to any other Cyclopaedia. A specimen volume in cloth binding will be mailed for five cents, or in half Morocco for seventy-five cents, and the money refunded if the volume is returned within ten days. ## ACRES!

Good Acre Property is Becoming Scarce.

Great Activity and Large Profits to be Made in Acres in the Next Six Months.

During the last few months
several thousand acres of the best suburban acre property have been bought up and put into large land companies.

This has made acre property especially valuable and desirable for two reasons.

1st. These companies have been organized not for the purpose of cornering acres and selling again at advanced
prices, as a mere speculation,

but for the purpose of controlling enough good property to enable them to offer liberal inducements to manufacturers, and the result is, the most wonderful developments ever seen, of all that section from

Oneota to Fond du Lac. The developments about to take place at West Duluth, Ironton and New Duluth, and the new industries those places have secured in the last six months will insure an increase of population from Oneota to New Duluth of 20,000 within the next twelve or eighteen months and other industries already being negotiated for will greatly increase the number.

2d. The removal of so much acre property from the market leaves but a comparatively small amount of very desirable acres to be had, and hence the increased value.

Everything considered, property, and especially acre property, has never been cheaper than it is now, and we predict great activity and large advances in this kind of property within the next six months.

If you want any good acres take our advice and buy at once. We make a specialty of the best acre property and have a splendid list of bargains in 49-15 and elsewhere. We also have a fine bargain in acres near London. Recollect that we control the sale of nearly all the property we offer, and that anyone who buys of us gets the largest and best selection of acre property and gets it at as low a price and as favorable terms as he could of the owner, as we sell strictly on commission. If you want to make big money quick, call soon.

EXCELLENT WOOL MILL.

The First of its Kind and Importance Near Here.

THE DULUTH WOOLLEN MILLS CO.

Its "Mules" the Largest Made, and All Its Machinery the Best; Its Product Sold.

IF NO unforeseen obstacles prevent themselves next Monday will see the spindles revolving and the shuttles flying in the new woolen mill at West Duluth.

The buildings have been completed, and the machinery is nearly all in place. The mill is complete in every detail, and the machinery is all of the latest improved design. Through the courtesy of Manager Holmes, a Herald reporter was shown through the mill yesterday. The main building is 42x104 feet in size, three stories in height, with a large addition for the engine room and drying and scouring rooms. In the latter room the process of scouring begins, the wool is first placed in the scouring tub, when it is washed with alkali to remove the grease. Then it is transferred to a large rinsing tub, and finally to the extractor, a large perforated cylinder, which revolves 2000 times a minute, straining the water from the wool. From the extractor the wool is transported to the third floor, where it is laid out in another drier, a sort of hollow bin with a large fan in one end, then it goes to the picker, where it is made into a thick mat. This mat is then picked by a large machine, which picks the fibres apart and uses them into a little enclosed space, and at a great velocity. At the parcels of wool emerge from this machine, it resembles one of a miniature snow. On this floor there is also a carding card, which will be used to manufacture rolls for farmers who will retain the old style spinning wheel. There is also a set of twist, which will be used in the manufacture of stocking yarn.

After the wool has gone through the picker several times it is transferred by elevators to the second floor, where the cards are located. There are two sets of three cards in each. They are composed of rollers covered with wire, both the wire being set into the cloth to make as in wire hair brushes, only much closer. The first card, or breaker, separates the fibres and forms them into an endless rope about an inch in diameter. This is wound on a large reel which, when filled, is transformed into the second breaker, which completes the work of straightening and arranging the fibres, but does not diminish the size of the rope. The last card, or finisher, reduces the size of the rope to about a sixteenth of an inch.

The spools are then transferred to the "mule," a long carriage which spins the wool into thread ready for weaving and adds it onto another set of spools. There are two of these mules, and they are the largest size made, being 72 feet long and containing 555 spindles. The thread is now ready for weaving. It is taken to the first floor where the looms are located. There are eight, manufactured by the Crompton Loom Works of Worcester. They are of the best and most improved pattern, and will weave any kind of cloth that can be woven. Before going into the looms the yarn is passed through a machine known as the sizer, dresser frame and reel, which transfers it to a beam ready to weave. A beam full of yarn will make 350 yards of cloth. The cloth as it comes from the loom is passed through a large machine known as the shear, which takes off the nap and leaves it smooth. It then goes through a press which is composed of a series of steam rollers and where the pieces are made the same as the steam rollers used in laundries. The cloth is then taken to the finishing mill where it is bleached and shrunk, and after it has been taken to the extractor, the process of finishing is completed. All that remains is for the new made cloth to be packed on frames outside the building where it is allowed to dry thoroughly in the sun.

The power used in running the mill is 45 horse engine and a 50 horse boiler. The mill now has 10,000 pounds of wool on hand and a quantity has already been secured and dried. In addition to the main building there is a large 2x50 feet in size which is now used as a storehouse for machinery, but will be used for manufacturing cloth next spring. There are also two small storehouses and an office. The mill will begin by employing 35 hands. Mr. Holmes expects to be running the mill in a short time. A year's product is already sold to a reliable firm.

A Good Feature.

A widow of one of the victims of a recent railway disaster called at the studio of a Chicago sculptor the other day to see the clay model of the bust she had ordered of her husband.

"I can change it in any particular way I may desire," said the artist. The widow looked at it with a tearful

"The nose is large."

"A large nose is the sign of goodness," said the artist.

The widow wiped away her tears and said, "Well then, make it a little larger."

A Reflection on Fitzpatrick's Veracity.

Why, Mr. Fitzpatrick, where did you get that ring? asked a Pittsburgh girl. Bought it? What do you think of it?

It's very pretty. What kind of a ring is it?

Sapphire.

Indeed! Doesn't wearing it recall your mind to two Biblical characters? Not at all. Does it to you?

Yes.

Who are they?

Ananias and sapphire, eh?

HERE IS A MOTHER-IN-LAW!

Spending Thousands to Secure Murder Because She Couldn't Stand the Baby.

The most malicious and unscrupulous mother-in-law on record has just been brought before the German public in a sensational lawsuit in Freiburg. With no other motive than an uncontrollable desire to have her own way, she ruined the home of her son-in-law, Dr. Hook, sent his wife to grief to the grave, stole his child repeatedly, conspired with common criminals for six years to kill him, and finally offered a reward of $50,000 to that member of her army of spies and thugs who should murder him.

The name of this remarkable woman is Bulkeley. Dr. Hook first met her in Scheveningen in 1876. He was a handsome and prosperous young Dutch physician of considerable promise, and, altogether, a most desirable match for the widow Bulkeley's marriageable daughter. She got him and trouble began at once because, as Dr. Hook's lawyers recently expressed it, "the widow Bulkeley endeavored to exercise an undue influence over the affairs of the Hookes."

The unpleasantness resulted in riotous proportions when a little Hook was born. Widow Bulkeley insisted on naming it after the departed Grandpapa Bulkeley and Dr. Hook wished to name it after Grandpapa Hook. Dr. Hook carried his point, but it was a fatal victory. It instilled wormwood and gall into the widow Bulkeley's soul and spirit. After it she devoted all her energies to the complete overthrow of the Hook household.

In 1882 Mrs. Hook died, harassed beyond all desire of living longer. The child whose name had caused the declaration of war between her and Dr. Hook, after a year's search Dr. Hook, with the aid of English, Dutch and German police, found his child in Canbury, England. He took the child home. A month later Widow Bulkeley had him arrested on a charge of having poisoned his wife. The body of Mrs. Hook was exhumed and examined. Long, tiresome, and expensive trial followed. Dr. Hook was discharged, as not a mite of evidence could be found against him. Then the widow Bulkeley engaged an army of spies and blacklegs to dog Dr. Hook's footsteps, and in as soon as possible, steal his son.

Numerous attempts were made to break open his house at night by the widow Bulkeley's cutthroats. On Sept. 31, 1885, the ex-convicts battered in his door and entered with their hands full of revolvers, lanterns, and other weapons. Dr. Hook and his night watchmen were half prepared for the attack, and fell upon the thieves with clubs and pistols. The noise of the battle defeated the purpose of Widow Bulkeley's hirelings and they eventually took flight. Dr. Hook's son, who was on the floor and his watchman able only to summon the police. Dr. Hook's wife, who was on the floor, was shot and two new guards after this experience. The widow Bulkeley, too, strengthened her forces, regardless of expense, for she was rich and determined. A few months later they again stormed Dr. Hook's house, but with such reckless boldness that two of their party were caught by the police before the door could be battered down. The two prisoners were tried, convicted and locked up. The widow Bulkeley was sent to jail for eighteen months, and then, as lieutenant, Jacob Kloppers, got one year solitary confinement.

Through an agent, however, the widow Bulkeley bribed a doctor of reputation to certify that she was dying of prison confinement and to stir public and official sentiment in her favor. By these means she secured her release after eleven months in jail, and then she began again her murderous persecution of Dr. Hook. She found him in Lugano, and at once surrounded him with her creatures, and even imported a physician who made his acquaintance. It is charged, with the purpose of poisoning him for her. Dr. Hook's detectives discovered the new plot and hurried him off to Freiburg. There was a short race then before the widow Bulkeley's supreme effort to get even with Dr. Hook because he didn't name his son after Grandpapa Bulkeley.

A few months ago the last act of the melodrama began with the appearance of two villainous-looking fellows at the office of Widow Bulkeley's lawyer in Karlsruhe. They told the lawyer they had been hired by Dr. Hook to murder him. To prove the truth of their story they showed two despatches of suspicious import. Both despatches were signed Hook and were dated from Freiburg. Then came a hue and cry against Hook, and a general investigation, which ended in the unexpected result of revealing Widow Bulkeley as the sender of the despatches and the originator of an elaborate plot to get her son-in-law in prison for life for attempting murder. Warrants were got out for her and her two thugs. The thugs were caught, but she had fled before the officers could get within gunshot of her residence. At their trial the two men said that they had received already $7500 as an advance reward for murdering Dr. Hook, and that Widow Bulkeley had promised them $42,500 more as soon as they had accomplished the deed. Both were sent to prison. Widow Bulkeley is still at large with the army of spies and cutthroats she has organized to consummate the death of Dr. Hook. As her financial means are practically unlimited, and the killing of her son-in-law seems to have become a mania with her, Dr. Hook keeps his little defensive army mobilized in anticipation of her next move against him.

Getting Out of Bad Company.

Terre Haute Express: "Good morning, mornin'," said the publisher, laying down his book.

"Good morning," replied the blue-eyed vision who had drifted into his office like a ray of tropic sunshine. "I have the manuscript of a sketch, or story you may call it, that I would be pleased to have you look over at your leisure." Then she laid the manuscript on the publisher's desk, and the "Kreutzer Sonata"—for that was the title of the book he had been perusing—gathered up its skirts turned up its nose and hid disgustfully to the other end of the desk.

Wasted Sweetness.

Terre Haute Express: "You see that girl over there—she began, when the other answered, 'Yes, she lives opposite us. She's deaf and dumb, poor thing.'"

"The idea. And there I sat behind her in the street car for four blocks and made remarks about that dowdy hat she has on, all for nothing."

PASSION AND PATHOS.

Both Ably Depicted at Temple Opera This Week.

THE MENDELSSOHN, SHE AND SCANLAN

Are Quick-Coming Attractions; Theatrical Notes and News; McCauliffe Not in It.

THIS HAS been a week of passion and laughter. Clara Morris brought the one; Barry & Fay the other. The great genius of the emotional actress received excellent recognition from Duluth theater-goers, but the engagement showed one thing—this is not the day of either Shakespeare or of acting based upon the pure lines of intellectual drama. Comedy reigns supreme, and to laugh is all an audience asks for or desires. This is not an age of intellect. What branch of theatrics is making the money? Comedy. And, excepting a few legitimate actors of the Booth-Barrett stamp, the people have put their approval upon that only which is as crowd or smile-producing.

As Danaham said: a Duluth interview: "Legitimate drama does not succeed in these degenerate days. Put a ballet in 'Hamlet' and intersperse the acts with songs and you'll draw houses. But it is sheer foolhardiness to expect the people of these times to patronize intellectual drama."

Barry & Fay drew well last night and their rollicking humor of "McKenzie's Plurition" was received with shouts of laughter. They will be followed by "She," a spectacular drama. "She" was given at the old Grand the season before the house burned and was received as well as poor a show deserved to be. But since that time the proprietors have put the piece on with better stage settings and it is now a successful show.

The Mendelssohn Quintette, Boston's musical organization, will hold forth at the Temple Opera on the evening of Oct. 1. Boston papers speak of this as the strongest musical club that ever went out of the city, and their concert have been everywhere received with the highest approval. Miss Baranoff, the well known soprano, is connected with the organization, and its membership is made up of the best talent of the city.

Hub affords. The concert is given under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Manager Miller has looked Scanlan, the great Irish comedian for the opening of the Temple Opera, Oct. 23. Duff's Opera company will be the following attraction.

Henfrow's "Jolly Pathfinders" will give a week of light comedy following Oct. 6.

FROM NEW YORK.

The Herald's Weekly Letter: The New Plays and Attractions.

New York, Sept. 25.—[Special correspondence to The Herald.]—Dion Boucicault is dead, and all that is mortal of the great dramatist now lies under the soil. The funeral took place Monday at "The Little Church Around the Corner."

Manager Palmer had charge of the funeral ceremony, which was witnessed by nearly all the professionals in the city. The greatest of American dramatists is dead; who is to fill his place?

Herman Merivale's "Havenwood," founded on Scott's "Bride of Lammermoor," was produced Saturday night at the Lyceum, London. The play is in the hands of the great actor, Henry Irving, and the plot follows closely that of the novel, except that Lucy Ashton instead of stabbing Balcanquhall is seized with hysteria and falls dead from heart disease. The character of Lucy is also worked out more strongly than in the book. The part of Edgar affords full scope for Henry Irving's melodramatic powers, and the scenic effects are very fine. Irving and Ellen Terry were repeatedly called before the curtain and the play made a decided hit.

The Spanish dance fever, brought on by the sinuous twinges and sensuous abandon of Carmosetta, does not appear to have subsided, although its ravages among comic opera prima donnas and shapely urbane artists were so disastrous as to give birth to the hope that this dread disease might be confined to its original source. The latest importation arrived in New York Sunday morning. A large and enthusiastic party, headed by Manager Frank Reynolds, went down the bay to meet her. The new dancer is named Carolina Otero. She is said to be young and beautiful.

The successful comedy which was brought forward at the Fifth Avenue Monday night is a translation and adaptation of Leitch's "Les Petits Oseaux," which has had a run of 800 nights in Paris. A version made by an English dramatist, and called "A Pair of Spectacles," has a record of 850 nights in London. The principal characters of the piece are two brothers, one of whom is a confirmed optimist and the other an equally confirmed pessimist. Both wear spectacles and in the middle of the play, upon exchanging their goggles, each experiences a sudden change to the other's views.

Nelson Breaks the Record.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Sept. 27.—Nelson, the great stallion from Maine, beat his own record and the world's stallion record of

"A Kiss from the Queen" is a new opera soon to be produced on the other side. London critics are wondering who the unlucky man was.

Frank Blair seems to have made a very marked hit in "Faurette," which is being done this season by the Boston Ideal.

Wagner's early opera, "Die Feen," was a financial success at the Munich Court theater last year. It is to be reproduced this season.

Lillian Nordiska is to create the leading role in "Ivanhoe," which Sir Arthur Sullivan has completed for Doyley Carte's new theater in London.

Parine Hall, under the direction of Marcus Mayer and Ben Stern, will begin her season at the Walnut street theater, Philadelphia, tomorrow evening, supported by her own opera company. The company comprises some seventy-five people.

The cast for J. M. Hill's latest venture, in which he will star Maurice Barrymore, is now complete. The play, which was written expressly for Mr. Barrymore by Augustus Thomas, has been christened "Reckless Temple." It will be produced at the Standard theater on Monday, Oct. 27.

The receipts of the Ober Ammergau Passion Play performances have exceeded 500,000 marks, showing an increase of 100,000 marks over the amount taken in 1880. Of this the actors get about 200,000 marks. The German peasant has a happy knack of associating religion with his business enterprise.

During the season Nat Goodwin will present a new one-act piece, "The Viper on the Hearth," by Mr. D. C. Campbell of London.

SLAVIN WINS.

The Australian Wins in Six Minutes: World's Stallion Record Broken: Other Matters of Sport.

LONDON, Sept. 27.—The fight between Frank Slavin the Australian champion, and Joe McAuliffe, the American heavyweight, took place at the Ormeau club at 5 o'clock this morning. The fight lasted six and three-quarter minutes, but was an ugly one. Only two rounds were fought, both men receiving severe punishment. The fight was for £1,000 and The Police Gazette championship belt. In order to bring the contest within the limits of the law, gloves of six ounces instead of four ounces were used and the number of rounds was reduced from thirty to fifteen.

Nelson Breaks the Record.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Sept. 27.—Nelson, the great stallion from Maine, beat his own record and the world's stallion record of

2:12, making the time in 2:11½. Pausing, the famous two-year-old, driven by John Dickerson, trotted to beat her record of 2:20½ and lowered it to 2:24½; the last half was made in 1:30½.

Sporting Notes.

George Laubach writes that he will give Jack Dempsey another fight very soon.

The grand circuit is over for 1890 and has been a great success. But for the rain, it would have been greater.

Jack Fitzpatrick, the Canadian featherweight, has sent a challenge to England, offering to fight Fred Johnson or any man of his weight in that country.

The running high jump record claimed by G. W. Rowden of 6 feet 7½ inches has not yet been allowed by the Amateur Athletic association of Great Britain.

Arrangements are being made for another fight between Andy Bowen and Billy Myer, to take place at the Audubon club, New Orleans, in February for a $2000 purse and $2000 a side.

It is now definitely settled that the crack Scottish football players are willing to come over here to meet American and Canadian teams after the matches for the British cup ties shall have been played on the other side.

Charleson now leads the Boston twirlers in victories. He has won five straight games from Cincinnati and lost four out of six to Anson. Getzner's record is just the opposite, he has won all of six of his Chicago games and lost the odd game in five to Cincinnati.

The English cyclists lowered several records in England last week. The records from six to twenty-two miles were cut down, the latter distance being covered in 29m. 0½s. The fifty miles was ridden in 2h. 58m. 3s, being fifty-four seconds faster than the record. The 100-mile tripling record was reduced to 8h. 49m. 22s, while in twelve hours continuous riding 104 miles was covered, being five and a half miles better than the previous record.

The Discovery of Iron

On Bay View Heights is attracting considerable attention to the possibilities of the new suburb, not only for residence purposes, but in connection with the development of iron mines in close proximity to West Duluth. It will, of course, time probably before any mining definite can be determined as to the extent and quality of the ore. The investigation of the land company, however, as to the "find" will be watched with much interest. If good paying ore is found on the hill, not only Bay View Heights alone, but West Duluth, will have the biggest boom that has yet been seen at the head of the lakes.

WHITEMAN IS OFFICIALLY NOTIFIED

How the Democratic Committee Looks Upon His Nomination: Some Other Political Gossip.

A CITY paper, a day or two ago, gravely announced that a petition asking R. S. Munger to run for the state senate on the republican ticket would soon be in circulation. Such a paper had, in fact, already been passed quietly about for several days, and is already largely signed. Mr. Munger feels rather keenly his defeat in the senatorial race four years ago, but his friends argue that while he had a very large majority in the city and vicinity, the party's later action, which made the Minnesota Iron company's vote solid against him and the mismanagement of some of his own workers in the west, and the election, which combined lost him the election, are not likely to occur again. In fact the senatorial district is now greatly changed from what it was at that time, and such counties as Wadena, where more votes were polled than the entire county has people, and a few others, as bad, are not now in the district. It is not certain just what the attitude of the Minnesota Iron company would be, considering its stand on Duluth and Winnipeg affairs, but prominent officials of both companies state emphatically that there is no war between them.

A state about like this has been agreed upon by some of the party leaders, and they believe it would have strength on all sides and would draw from every quarter. For senator, R. S. Munger; for representative, E. G. Swanstrom, of the West End, W. J. Jones, and M. M. Rimes, of City; for county auditor, George M. Ely, of the Clarke union; for county treasurer, J. P. Johnson, the present incumbent; for register, an iron range man other than Mr. Shepard, and a man who is claimed to have the backing that Shepard had before, for judge of probate, P. Ayer, present incumbent. Just how far this ticket will strike the workers is left to the imagination of the readers.

A. J. Whiteman has been duly notified of his congressional nomination for the Fifth district, the notification committee, appointed at the recent democratic convention, arriving in the city this morning. It consists of D. T. Calhoun of St. Cloud, the nominee for attorney-general on the democratic state ticket; H. C. Sturges, mayor of Brainerd, editor of The Journal; H. C. Wilkins, the Crookston politician; Dr. Burt Robertson, editor of The Graceland Phoenix; Chas. L. Baxter, son of Judge Baxter of Otter Tail county and one of the young democratic politicians of the state.

D. T. Calhoun seemed particularly happy this morning over the situation, and in regard to it said: "I hear we have a chance for winning. There seems to be great dissatisfaction in the republican ranks. The alliance, independent candidates and regulars are cutting each other's throats, all of which militates against republican success."

"We nominated Mr. Whiteman," said one of the committee, "as a proper man for the place. He is a Duluth man, and his standing with the people is such that he will draw a large republican vote. He has a good record, is a hard worker and is a man republicans as well as democrats can trust with their affairs at Washington. He will poll a big vote from the western part of the district, and his chances for election are, in my estimation, equal with Comstock's."

The notification committee called on Mr. Whiteman this morning, and Mr. Calhoun formally informed him of his nomination. The nominee happily responded, and touching upon the excellent chances for democratic success, he spoke of his candidacy as one entered into with due appreciation of the democratic minority in this district, but with the firm belief that the republican majority could be overcome.

J. E. Cooley: There's a little talk of another star chamber session of the politicians held a few days ago, when, it is told, the chief business was to sit on those who proposed R. S. Munger. Now I was at that "meeting"—which wasn't a meeting at all, and the name of Mr. Munger was not mentioned, pro or con, by any one present.

A DULL DAY.

The Wheat Market Got Ready For a Sunday Rest One Day Too Soon. Wheat was dull today, a decline in prices being the evident cause, and transactions were confined mostly to futures. No. 1 hard advanced slightly, assumed a sluggish aspect and closed at last night's figures, 95¢. No. 1 northern opened better, and quite an amount was disposed of; later dropped 1/4 and closed at that point. No. 2 northern advanced from 80¢ to 80 1/2¢, and closed at 80 1/2¢ bid. Nothing was done in lower grades. A 25,000 bu lot of September 1 hard sold early at 100 and quotations ruled at 99 1/2¢. October 1 hard sold up to 100, declining to 99 1/2¢. December reached 100 1/2¢, ruled dull throughout, finishing at 100. May futures received no attention.

EXCELLENT YOUNG LOCAL BLOOD ADDED

The Heavy Firm of Cochran & Walsh and Its Added Partners; Its Great Business.

There is probably no part in the civilized world where the fame of Americans as shrewd business men and able financiers has not penetrated. For many years the name of Cochran & Walsh, brokers, has been a familiar one in financial circles, both East and West, being the oldest in their line of business, which has been loaning money on real estate security and the buying and selling of mortgages.

Their office in Duluth has given this community an illustration of the conservative business transacted by Cochran & Walsh with characteristic integrity. The recent announcement that one of Duluth's most enterprising and well-known young men, Mr. W. M. Roberts and Mr. A. W. Hartman, would be admitted as partners Oct. 1, makes a few words in connection with this house of special interest at present to Herald readers.

The firm has three different offices, the main one of which is located in St. Paul, another in New York and the third as before mentioned, in our own city. The New York office is under the management of Mr. Silas B. Walsh, a member of the firm, and is located on Wall street in the heart of the money center of this country, which gives them unusual facilities for placing promptly and successfully securities of any desirable class, trading in daily contact with many of the largest sources of supply for the United States.

Mr. Lucas, who formerly lived in Duluth and opened the firm's office here, is now in charge of the St. Paul office and is the junior member of the firm. Mr. Lucas has many friends in Duluth who will be pleased to learn of his continued prosperity in St. Paul. Mr. Cochran, the head of the firm, is also a resident of St. Paul, and is one of the most widely and favorably known business men in that city. This gentleman is an active factor in many of the largest undertakings in the St. Paul city, is prominent in church circles, a leading spirit of the Y. M. C. A. of St. Paul and a director in many of its largest moneyed institutions. The firm owns a considerable amount of St. Paul real estate, have confidence in it, and are considered successful dealers.

There are few business men in Duluth who are not familiar with the genial manager in the city, Mr. W. M. Roberts, who started in with the firm three years ago when the business was in charge of Mr. Lucas, and a little over a year ago was given the management, the latter moving to St. Paul. Under Mr. Roberts' management the business has continued to increase and promises great things for the future, his admission as a partner showing the high appreciation in which he was held by his former employers. This gentleman has had an extended commercial experience, which serves him well in his present business. He was formerly an active partner and still retains an interest in a New York state flour mill.

Mr. Hartman, who has also obtained a partnership in the Duluth business, will on Oct. 1 sever his connection as general agent of the Northern Pacific railroad, and be associated with Mr. Roberts in conducting the business of this city. This gentleman is an old resident, having been born here and has seen Duluth when things looked very discouraging. He is made of the right material for a successful business man, having advanced by his own exertions from the position of a newboy and messenger in a telegraph office to an operator with the Northern Pacific railroad. His promotion was rapid. His hard work in the interests of his road was appreciated and he soon was chief clerk under Mr. A. S. Chase. When the latter gentleman resigned to take the management of the Duluth street railroad, Mr. Hartman was advanced to the office of general agent, a position, which has been proven, he was well qualified to fill. Since assuming this position the duties and responsibilities have rapidly increased, the Duluth office at one period representing one-tenth the entire business of the Northern Pacific railroad system. The business under him has practically doubled the past year. The management of this road parts with the services of Mr. Hartman with great regret and The Herald is familiar with the fact that great efforts were made to induce the gentleman to remain with the road which, however, were without avail.

Mr. Hartman is president of the electric light company which furnishes Duluth with light, Mr. Roberts being vice-president of the same company.
